Then came Senator Hanna's announcement that Senator Fairbanks of Indiana ought to accept the nomination as Vice-President of the United States on the ticket headed by Roosevelt, and following that comes Senator Fairbanks's silent consent to accept the honor if it comes to him. There are other indications that no national factional fight is coming in the Republican party. They have agreed all round that no tariff tinkering will be necessary this winter. WARNED BY GOMPERS AGAINST WAGE-CUTTING

UNIONS WILL YIELD NO GROUND WITHOUT A STRUGGLE.

He Tells Civic Federation That Con cessions Must Not be Expected in Event of an Industrial Depression. Senator Hanna's Plea for Harmony.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—A warning to cap-ital against cutting wages!f financial de-pression comes, by President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, and a plea for harmony between em-ployers and toilers by Senator Ranna were made at the closing session of the National Civic Federation conference

Much, he said, was due to the cor servative element in labor organizations He expressed hope for the future, and said that members of the federation who at first were reluctant to join wer mind there was a way to settle differ-ences. The future success in the indus-trial world, the Senator said, would be trial world, the Senator said would be largely guided by the Civic Federation movement which was started here four years ago. The duty of employers was greater than that of employes, and the work of conciliation was the great work to be done. In all great difficulties, political or otherwise, compromise is the only thing to bring success. The work of the federation is, he said, a work of education, and he added that patience is required in the work for the good of our fellowmen individually, and for society as a whole.

Success in maintaining industrial peace was a greater matter than the question of who is the next President. Captains of industry, he said, and the other side were only too willing to learn from teachers who have had experience. There is not any real difficulty that cannot be settled, but fair dealing was necessary. He referred to the wastefulness of strikes and lockouts and the effect they had on capital and labor, and how aid in the movement of the federation could help all.

W. L. McKenzle King of the Department of Labor of Canada, discussed the situation in Canada, and how a number of strikes were successfully settled by the law.

John T. Wilson, president of the International Brotherhood of Railway Maintenance of Way, and Marcus M. Marks, president of the National Clothing Manufacturers of New York also agoke.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, tollargely guided by the Civic Federation ing Manufacturers of New Tork also spoke.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, followed. He expressed his appreciation of the work of the federation, and desired to correct misapprehension, which he said, existed in the minds of some regarding organized labor, and clear false notions so that labor and capital could go along hand in hand in the production of the wealth of the country. He replied to T. F. Woodlock, a New York editor, who, in an address, said that because of the reaction in business now confronting the country, labor should make no unreasonable demands upon the employer. He said:

sonable demands upon the employer. He said:

"If the time comes to suggest the advisability of the employer to cutting, or making any attempt to cut wages it will be disputed by us. We will not let that go easily. We will make a stand against it, not because it is unwise, but because it simply accentuates the industrial crisis, and gives it greater strength."

FERRYBOATS COLLIDE CAUSING WILD PANIC.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.]

S AN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—Endangering the lives of thousands of passengers, the Southern Pacific ferry steamer Newark crashed bow on into the ferry steamer Oakland in the middle of the bay during a dense fog this morning. The Newark struck the Oakland aft of the port paddle box, tearing a hole in her side, but fortunately not disabling her machinery. The Newark came out of the collision with her rails carried away at the bows. The deck near the apron was cut deeply by the Oskland's side.

Owing to the dense fog on the bay, the boats were doing double service, the crowd on each steamer being doubled in consequence.

On the Oakland the excitement was tearing a hole in her side, but fortamately not disabling her machinery.

The Newark came out of the collision with her rails carried away at the bows. The deck near the apron was cut deeply by the Oskland's side.

Owing to the dense fog on the bay,
the boats were doing double service, the crowd on each steamer being doubled in consequence.

On the Oskland the excitement was greater than on the Newark. The force of the blow was such that the boat listed at least 20 degrees. After this lunge to starboard, the Oskland recovered, but rolled to port when the Newark backed her engines and got clear.

As the Oskland rocked on the water after the loud crash, the crowd on the lower and the upper decks rushed back and forth in a fury of fright. Women fell fainting, or went into hysterics, on the damaged steamer. On the upper deck several women rushed to the rail to leap overboard, but were held back by the men. Racks containing cork jackets were torn down through the whole length of the Oskland's lower deck. On the Newark the passengers were more easily restrained, that vessel not feeling the force of the collision as much as the Oskland.

Fortunately in this crisis the officers of the steamers remained commendabiy cool. While the captains and pilots stood at their posts in the wheelhouse and extricated the boats from their position, the mates and the deck hands went about urging and persuading the crowd that there was no real danger.

It was found to be almost impossi-ing the crowd that there was no real danger.

It was found to be almost impossible to restrain the less reasonable persons, who let their fears run away from them. During the half-hour that followed the crew had to stand ready, fearing that at any moment some fool-by Rev. Daniel Stewart and preliminary remarks by the chairman, Hon. J. W. Davis, a brief address of welcome was extended by John Tuohy. Mayor of Tulare, followed by an earnest talk to the celebrating taxpayers by Arthur J. Pilisbury. Mayor Snyder of Los Angeles was then introduced, and after extending congratulations admonished the audience to pattern after Southern California communities and become big with prosperity.

The afternoon programme centered on the burning of the bonds. It was a dramatic scene. Above the heads of the open-air audience, hung a huge wire basket. Hardly had the crowd seated itself for the fiery afternoon joy, when RED BY A TRAGEDY. Rading of Bond-burning shout went up:

"We want Treasurer John Goble and the bonds."

Forthwith they came, escorted by a detachment of militia. A mighty cheer arose and still another when it was announced that Gov. Pardee was to have the honor of touching the match to the pile. Such a scene as then followed was one which even the great arid kingdom of the West may never have witnessed before. The Governor crumpled and threw in the lowered basket the first bond, followed in this action by members of the board of directors of the district, and members of the Bond Liquidation Committee. Then the taxpayers were called upon to march scross the platform and cast one apiece into the basket for cremation. Ranchers, tottering old women, all of whom have made sacrifices, filed by. Some were grave and heaved a sigh of relief as they passed the wire basket; others tore the bonds into bits and hurled them viclously among their fellows, while occasionally a man would jump bodily into the basket for the pleasure of feeling the hated paper under his heels. When the last bond was deposited the basket was closed, and swung into full view of the people, where it remained while the Governor made his speech.

When the 'cheering announced that the Governor had finished. a bomb was shot a thousand feet into the air, where it exploded, and an enormous American flag was unfurled. Gov. Pardee then lighted the bonds, and as the paper, which at one time was valued at $700,000, lurst into flame the band struck up "A Hot Time." to which the crowd lent their voices.

Carriages and Automobiles.

A business which has grown in proportion to the needs of the efty is the carriage trimming industry of M. L. Moran at 154 and 156 North Los Angeles street.

Ten years ago Mr. Moran began business for himself in a small iron shop on North Los Angeles street, and ting all the work himself. At the beginning such was the quality of his work it brought him an income of 1500 per month. Since then, however, he has moved into larger quarters and the business averages from ten to eighteen hundred dollars a month, and there are now six competent mechanics assisting Mr. Moran, who personally supervises all the work turned out; and instead of the few tools which were used at the inception of the business there are hundreds of dollars of improved machinery, which, with the added fact that the material for the shop is bought in very large quantities, enables customers to get the benefit of exceptionally low prices.

As an instance of the merits of the work performed it is only necessary to state that carriages and automobiles are trimmed and furnished here for every section of Southern California, down to San Diego and as fareast as Tucson, Arizona. Many wholesale dealers as well as private parties sending their carriages and vehicles to be finished at this shop. Insterday work was being finished on the body of an automobile, and an order from San Diego was being done, as well as a great deal of city work.

Carriage carpets, fringes and all materials found in the best carriage trimming shops are here, and the work of making and cushions are guaranteed of a high-class order.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—(Exclusive Dis-patch.) The "Burgiar Aid Associa-tion" is the unofficial title of an or-ganization of burgiars declared to ex-ist in one city police precinct by cit-izens living in that section of Chicago.

Crosses, circles and the pictures of dogs, usually made by a knife, pencil or chalk, are believed by the police to be the principal characters of this strange code. Included in the membership, in the opinion of the police, are some of the cleverest burglars operating in Chicago. Result Regarded as Favorable to the Defendants.

Efforts of Government to Secur Conviction-Judge's Strong Charge.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) CINCINNATI (O.) Oct. 17 .- The jury In the case of Daniel Voorhies Miller and Joseph M. Johns, on trial in the Federal court here all week on the charge of an alleged conspiracy to ex-tort a bribe, reported shortly before midnight that it was unable to agree and was discharged by Judge Thompson. The trial attracted unusual attention, as it was the first one under leged frauds in the Postoffice Depart to the very vigorous arguments taking of evidence, and the fifth day to the very tigorous arguments of attorneys.

Gen. Robb and many clerks from the department at Washington, Chief Cochrane and many other postoffice inspectors were here assisting in the prosecution, and the charge of the Jury was an unusually strong one.

The disagreement of the jury was generally regarded as somewhat favorable to the defendants, as the government had shown its hand fully in this trial. The jury was considering the case for six hours and a haif. It was undisturbed from 5 p.m. to 11:10, when Judge Thompson told the jury he would instruct them about any matter of law, but they must settle matters of facts among themselves. He directed the jury to retire again, and submit the request for further instructions in writing. At 11:35 p.m. the jury came in again and in writing reported as follows: "We are unable to agree upon a matter of fact,"

Judge Thompson questioned the jury as to the probability of reaching an agreement, and was advised that there was no such probability without additional instruction.

While there were unconfirmed reports that the jury stood seven to five for conviction it was generally understood in the courtroom that the jury was unable to agree on the matter of fact as to whether Miller had any connection with the dealings between Ryan and Johns, or as to whether there was any conspiracy between the defendants.

The defendants renewed their bonds for a new trial, but Dist. Atty. Mc-Pherson was unable to state whether there would be another hearing of the case set for the present term of court. While neither side indicated any gratification over the result it was evident that the many employes of the government who were present were disappointed.

The his charge to the jury, Judge Thompson held that there must be an any surface of the many employes of the government who were present were disappointed.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Oct. 17.—Glen Bros., contractors, have sued the International Plasterers' Union for $20,000 damages for injury from a boyernment who were present were disappointed.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Thompson held that there must be an overt act to establish a conspiracy, and that while there was no direct testimony to show this except in the testimony of Ryan, as to what Johns had proposed to him, yet there was much circumstantial evidence to that effect. The main point for the jury was to settle, whether Miller had knowledge of what took place between Johns and Ryan, and whether Johns was authorized to speek for the Assistant-Attorney-General for the Postoffice Department. The court told the jury that there could be no verdict finding one of the defendants guilty, and the other innocent; that both must be convicted or both acquitted and that no sympathy or any prejudice should enter into their findings, although the testimony bearing on the previous reputations of the defendants was to be considered the same as other evidence. cott imposed because they refused to pay a "fine" of $600 imposed by the union. How Old is Ann?

How Old is Ann?

This is the problem:

Mary is 24 years old; Mary is twice as old as Ann was when Mary was as old as Ann is now. How old is Ann?

The puzzle has come, been ween and has conquered at Harvard University. It is mightler at tackle than football. It has caught New England in its compelling grasp. Out of the figuring that it has worked in the East the State and pencil industries are expecting a boom to banish all thoughts of a winter of discontent.

In its simplicity is the alluring strength of this problem. The statement of terms involves perfect frankness and no useless multiplication of words. "Mary is 24 years old," and so forth. Adorable Mary! But behold at the finish the leading question: "How old is Ann?"

VICTORIA (B. C.) Oct. 17.—Pending the receipt of full details regarding the decision of the Alaskan Boundary Commissioners in London, British Columbia is suspending judgment and beyond expressions of keen disappointment at the decision, officers will say little on the matter.

The people of British Columbia expected to receive much more at the hand of the commissioners, but as one of the officers of the British Columbia government said this morning:

"If the people of the province find that the case has been rendered on its merits and on its merits alone, they will accept the decision frankly; but if, as has been the case in other arbitration where this province has been affected, and notably the Pelagic sealing arbitration, the decision has been reached as a diplomatic arrangement between Great Britain and the United States, it will cause extreme irritation in Canada, whose people are becoming tired of being garlanded with flowers and sacrificed to make diplomatic arrangements between Great Britain and the United States."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES) LONDON, Oct. 17.-(Exclusive Dis atch.] Chamberlainism and chaose are still the key words in the English rific fusillade of figures and invective has been poured into Chamberlainiam Liberal fighting line. The existence of a common enemy once again has brought together the Gladagain has brought together the Gad-stonian Liberals. For the first time in a decade Liberalism stands united, if as yet it is leaderless. Lord Rose-bery, Sir William Harcourt, Mr. As-quith, Sir Henry Fowler, Sir Edward Grey and Sir H. Campbell-Bannerman vie with each other in their denun-ciation of Chamberlainism, root and branch. They make no reservations. They declare that British industry is perfectly healthy and progressive, aging its own affairs and only as to be let alone. Preferences they sa would penalize the British working-man and retaliation would hit Great Britain more than it would her enemies. They point to the United States as an especial illustration. It is the greatest offender. But as this ministry of retaliation refuses to tax food or raw materials, and as copper and iron and oils which have made ur the chief part of British imports from America are essentially raw ma-terials for British manufacturers, Great Britain really has no means of hitting back. This is the Liberal po-sition as elaborated this week. Next week Mr. Chamberlain makes his re-

To Property Owners: Ten years ago who would start a dry goods store south of Pirst street? Today who would go north of it? Ten years ago who wanted a cottage home on Thirtieth street? Let's see Thirtieth, that was half way between Los Angeles and the little country postoffice of Vernon, wasn't it? Today it's all Los Angeles clear to Sixtieth.

Your property may be worth more right now, today, than it will be again for ten years. The lot that remains unimproved or is held at a 1915 price may be passed over a block or two and those magnificent improvements switch the immediate values elsewhere. Just because the corner lot one block nearer to the business center brought $200,000 three months ago is no reason you should continue to raise the price of your lot $5000 or $10,000 every month, Remember. also, that the city grows fastest in the direction it can be platted most profitably and accessibly. Just because the twenty seres next to you, after being platted and advertised brought $4000 an acre, is no reason yours should jump from $1000 to $2000 over night.

Stop! Think! Listen! What is the best for the immediate advancement of the city's growth is best for me as a property owner anywhere in Los Angeles. What improvements, what purchases will advance my property interests to the best advantage? Where is the best future and the best bargains in Los Angeles real estate holdings? Why, and when, and hour These are all real estate problems that we help both prospective buyers and sellers to solve.

"No, the Southern Pacific is planning no new improvements for Los Angeles or vicinity just now," said Mr. Kruttsehnitt, "but we propose to finish the shops and the big bridge that are building here. Some little work can be done in the shops now, and tools are being installed as rapidly as possible. By the end of the year, I believe the old shops will be a thing of the past. The new shops, which will represent when completed an expenditure of $400,000 or $500,000, while not the largest, will be among the best-equipped in the country."

"Will you proceed to enlarge the Arcade Depot?"

It has been fittimated in official circles that the depot is now quite large enough, and, with some rearrangement, can be made to do for awhile.

wages high—exceedingly high, with prices for rails and cars from 30 to 40 per cent. higher than ever before, with labor disturbances ever imminent, it would seem as if things had about reached the limit, although there seems little reason necessarily for a crash on account of these conditions.

"Then the new policy is one of conservatism rather than alarm?"

"Yes, sir."

"But your traffic, both passenger and freight, is tremendous, is it not?"

"Yes, both freight and passenger business is excellent, and we are handling it as well as we can, and our showing in this regard is very satisfactory. I saw a dispatch the other day—I think it was in San Antonioto the effect that the Southern Pacific has 4000 cars tied up. This is not true and does us an injustice. As a matter of fact, today there are only 1200 cars of fact, today there are only 1200 cars on the system that are at all delayed, and on over $000 miles of road that and on over 3000 miles of road that is very good."

"Will you cut down expenses in this territory about $1000 a month?"

"Oh, no official could tell you what he will do or what it will amount to. Wherever expenses can be cut, there will be a saving, but by no means is the efficiency of the service to be impaired."

"Do you propose to shut up any of your offices?"

"No, we shall not close up any agencies, but a number of small telegraph stations may be dispensed with."

"Yes, yes, you know by report," said he bravely, "of our new policy, which is simply that of many other large railroads and corporations at this time. It has been deemed best to slow down for awhile. During the last three years the Southern Pactific has spent lavishly on improvements in every direction; nothing has been sated in the way of expense. Now we think it best to begin to enjoy the fruits of our long labor. Why, last year we laid 100,000 tons of steel, which is equivalent to about 800 miles of road, will eighty-pound rails. The year before we laid 600 miles and the year before that 300 miles. And during this time, as you know, there have been steel bridges by the dosen. After such a period of activity it would be quite natural to rest awhile."

"But you don't view the future with alarm, do you?"

Bryant, president and manager; H. A. Wood, vice-president; P. S. Gruendike, treasurer; W. Grant Tower, secretary, D. W. Walkinshaw, W. G. Gray, W. N. Tilson. The company has received the final letters patent on an invention for labor-saving construction of railroad beds, ties and rails. It relates especially to the manner of connecting and supporting the ties and rails. The main feature is a strong continuous tie support to strengthen the rails throughout their entire length, preventing creeping and displacement, also spreading or breaking of rails under severe lateral strains. It permits a higher speed of trains with less danger of derailment. A broken rail can be held in place and there will be no splitting of ties.

The Full Bloom of Beauty

Our Greatest Achievement in Women's Garments

Our garment department blooms forth Monday morning in its full maturity. The earlier styles have ripened into their final beauty. The first characteristics have been modified by Paris and New York tailors until now we are able to show the accepted correct modes which will prevail throughout the entire winter.

With our immense variety we are able to meet every individual's ideas. Even in San Francisco with its greater population there is no store which shows so many exclusive and fashionable modes as we have provided for Los Angeles.

Our immense business can only be the result of remarkable values combined with the utmost exclusiveness.

A Peep at New Things.

A visit Monday morning will repay any woman even though she has no intention of making a purchase.

In addition to the host of modish and smart dress and walking suits, and other garments for every day wear you will find here the most exquisite creations, each of which is a study in the art of high class tailoring.

One of the new arrivals is a French costume in burnt orange color—another rich street costume in Havana brown, with gauntlet cuff, the very latest style—still another is a magnificent dress of allover Tuny lace—there are beautiful theater wraps in cream and new champagne shade, with lace applique collars, also all-over black chiffon costume.

GREAT BEET ACREAGE. Ten thousand acres are to be planted to sugar beets this season in the Salt River Valley, to be ready for the River Valley, to be ready for the completion of the new Glendale beetsugar factory. The factory managers have put a corps of agricultural experts afield, to instruct the farmers in the care of the crop and in the proper preparation of the soil. In addition to the price paid for the beets, the farmers are to be given back in pulp half the weight of the beets for cattle feeding. The buildings near

The Donkey and the Seal.

A most remarkable incident occurred at Scilly resterday morning. A donkey belonging to a man named Woodcock, while feeding near the beach on Banks Carn, seized a live seal in his mouth. She carried it inland for a distance of a quarter of a mile, and when she stopped the seal was still alive. It measured three feet six inches in length, and weighed forty-five pounds.—[81. VENTURA. Oct. 18.—A disastrous mountain fire raged in the upper Ojat Valley today. Dwellings, barns, water plants, fruit trees, timber and brush have been totally destroyed. Among the heaviest losers will be W. J. Davies, who lost his house, barns and pumping plant. The houses of Edward Senior, C. E. Sackett and several miles of flume belonging to the San Antonio Water Company, were consumed. F. Udall, was severely burned in putting a fire out on his residence. The Mo-Andrew home was badly scorched, also the Green orange-packing house. W. L. Hall lost all of the irrigating flume in his orchard. James Leelle lost his barn and many stands of bees, but saved his house.

The fire is said fo have been started by Miss SE. Smith, near the Thacher school. This afternoon she was in a hysterical condition. She had started a small brush fire in the yard. Wind scattered the flames, which became uncontrollable.

No business was transacted in Norahoff today, as every man was in the mills fighting fire. The fire took a northwesterly course, sweeping practically everything along its path. Small orange and lemon groves in the foothills were badly scorched. Skry or seventy of the Thacher school students fought the fire until overcome, when assistance was asked of the onrdnoff people.

BURSON'S BIG PROJECT.

John Burson and his electric road partners are making arrangements for bigger improvements at Hueneme than a mere electric road would warrant. It is designed by his company to build a deep-water wharf at that point, ostensibly to unload his railroad iron and material, and to that end Chief Engineer Purcell of the Burson line, assisted by Capt. Merry and his steamyacht, Dalsy, have been making soundings about Hueneme. and William H. Schweppe, his alleged go-between. The suit relates to an old case, tried in June, 1902, in which Gar-land sued Mrs. Manning to compelher to keep an option she had given him upon some property. He won. Now she is suing to gain possession of her land. She is represented by J. Wiseman Macdonald, Esq., with the firm of Works, Lee & Works as associate counsel.

The complaint alleges that Garland obtained the sole agency for Mrs. Manning's property—a forty-five-foot lot lying on the west side of South Main streets, in November, 1991. He is alleged to have represented to her that this particular piece was worth no more than $300 per front foot, when isnd all around Mrs. Mauning's place was selling at $400 the foot. Then came the little performance said to have been played with Schweppe's aid. Schweppe is alleged to have been an employe of Garland's at that time.

In the legal document placed on record yesterday: "The plaintiff alleges that thereafter, without the consent of the plaintiff, and without authority, by virtue of said contract of agency or oherwise, and against the wish and will of the plaintiff, said defendant Garland pretended to execute a contract of sale to said Schweppe, and signed the name of the plaintiff thereto, for said property."

The complaint further alleges "that at the time the plaintiff entered into said contract of agency she was not familiar with the true value of said real estate, or of real estate in the vicinity thereof, or the condition of the real estate, or of real estate in the vicinity thereof, or the condition of the real estate, and with intent to procure the title to said property for his own benefit, as hereinafter alleged, represented to the plaintiff that said property was of the value of $300 per front foot, and no more, and that if she should sell the same at that price she could invest the purchase money in other property, on other streets in the city, to much better advantage to her, when in truth and in fact said property was then of the value of $400 per front foot, and no more, and that if she should sell the same at that price she could invest the purchase money in other property, on other streets in the city, to much better advantage to her, when in truth and in fact said property was then of the value of $400 per front foot, and see in the name of said Schweppe for said Gariand, that Gariand is to pay all sums required to be paid on account thereof, an

Canadian Colony for the South.

The announcement is made that a colony of French Canadians is shortly to be planted near 'Summerville, in Dorchester county, S. C., some twenty miles west of Charleston. We congratulate Summerville, Charleston and the Canadians; the colony will be a good thing for them all. The Canadians are now living in Quebec, where they are engaged in farming. They are thrifty, frugal people. A large tract of land has been secured for them. This will be divided into farms of 50 to 100 acres, and the settlers will devote themselves to farming, stock, and fruit raising. A church and a school house for the use of the immigrants are already in course of erection at the colony site. The planting of this colony of desirable newcomers in the South is said to be an outcome of the distribution by the Southern Railway a year or so ago of a mass of literature descriptive of Southern resources printed in the French language. Other literature of similar character it to be printed in German. The departure is to include the Scandinavian language as well. On no other single subject are so many unfounded and whimsical theories launched as in meteorology. Mr. H. C. Russell, the State Astronomer of New South Wales, has recently disposed of one of those traditions regarding the correlation of British and Australian climate which somebody invented without any pretext whatever. It is to the effect that a wet season in England is followed by a wet season in Australia. Mr. Russell has demonstrated that, although the sequence does sometimes happen, it is very rare. From 1886 to 1885 and from 1894 to 1901 there were rainy seasons in England, while Australia was suffering severe drought. The last period, it may be observed was one of deficient rain in this country, but with nothing like the lamentable deficiency in the colonies. The wet summer at home has been accompanied by the break-up of the Australian founchir, whether it will be fol-

President Edwards delivered the address of welcome, speaking principally on the significance of the school motio, "Science, Art and Industry." "This," he said, "must be the keynote of Throop." will be examined.

The examination yesterday was not sensational. Mr. Shankland inquired into water rights and other matters in relation to land owned by Creas-inger in Ventura, Mexico and else-

Dr. Wills stated that he thought Mr. Creasinger had had a slight stroke of paralysis.

He appeared sick when he was brought to the stand.

The first thing to be inquired about was the Covina ranch. Creasinger said that the ranch is worth $1000 an acre, and carries with it water rights. He told about his ranch in Riverside, of which there are eighty acres set out to pruñes. Back of this there are 47,000 acres available for grazing. In acquiring the Matilija Springs property in Ventura, he had to buy about four bundred acres to keep people from gambling near the springs. He said that the only sections of value are the five acres nearest the springs. Creasinger also spoke of the 50,000 acres in Mexico, about thirty-five miles from San Diego. This property is in litigation, however. In Cripple Creek he has a hotel which rents for $30 a month. He said he got it partly through a trade, the price being $11,000. Creasinger says he has 5000 acres of land in Tennessee. He said he never saw the property, traded "sight unseern," and never even recorded the deed.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

THE VALUE OF CHAR COAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is In Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realise its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities giways resent in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smeking, drinking or after eating onlons and other adorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion; it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe eathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which cellect in the atomach and bowds; it disintests the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrib.

000 by H. G. Wilshire, the beneficial owner, The association is said to intend erecting a six-story brick byfiding that will cost not less than $125,000, and have stores on the first floor that are estimated to bring the association $500 per month. A desirable site for the improvement intended. Mr. Goldwater and associates bought first-described lot from W. H. Schweppe something over a year ago for a consideration stated at $40,000. The rantor in that case had surchased the property of A. W. Rhodes for a stated consideration prices ranging from $1000 to $1500, and aggregating about $13,000. Among the purchasers reported are Albert C. Jewett, who buys three lots on the west side of Lake Shore avenue, between Sunset boulevard and Kent streets, and F. W. Stephens, who has secured five lots on the same side of Lake Shore avenue, between Montrose avenue and Kent street, $1500, and is to erect a handsome residence upon the pemises.

Julius Weisenberger buys of P. A. Jarvie, through H. P. Ernest, 120x115 fest, unimproved, on the north side of Seventh street, about midway between Valencia street and Union avenue; consideration named, $10,000. Good prossideration named, $10,000.

Elysian Park Tract.

The lots of the Elysian Park tract, a new subdivision adjoining Elysian Park, have been placed on the market by the McGarvin-Bronson Company at prices ranging from $300 to $450. They average from 40x140 to 40x 225 feet each, are possessed of numerous advantages in the way of location and accessibility, and seem to be good value at the prices at which they are offered.

In The Times' weekly real estate review of August 9 last appeared the following: "John W. Sharpe. F. E. Trask. Easton. Eldridge & Co., and associates have secured about 350 acres of unimproved land lying a quarter of a mile northeast of Santa Fé Springs, and have bonded between 500 and 1600 acres more in the same locality, and propose placing the entire tract under irrigation and offering the same in small holdings to actual settlers. About 400 acres are already under [irrigation, and it is believed by those interested in the enterprise that in a comparatively short time, as such things go, they will be in cultivation."

In pursuance of the plan of development outlined above, the Santa Fé Springs Water Company has been formed, with a capital of $400,000. Its officers and directors are John W. Sharpe, president: George Easton, vice-president; J. H. Braly of the Southern California Savings Bank, treasurer; F. E. Trask and L. W. Moultrie. The company proposes to build and equip at once an irrigation system, a feature of which will be a high-grade pumping plant, the expenses of which it is estimated can be kept down to the nominal figure of a quarter of a cent an hour. The distributing system will be of cement the north side of Fifth street, between of unimproved ground developed to the southern California Savings Bank, treasurer; F. E. Trask and L. W. Moultrie. The company proposes to build and equip at once an irrigation system, a feature of which will be a high-grade pumping plant, the expenses of which it is estimated can be kept down to the nominal figure of a quarter of a cent an hour. The distributing system will be of cement pipe and flumes. A temporary plant, already installed, is said to be furnishing 300 inches of water, and to supply the immediate demand the company is preparing to extend the pipe lines of the present system, pending the installation of the larger plant. Farmers owning lands contiguous to the system are to be supplied with perpetual water rights at reasonable rates, and stockholders in the company will be guaranteed an inch of water, continuous flow, to every ten shares of stock. Easton, Eldridge & Co. in connection with the water company named, control about 1000 acres of land in this locality and are offering the same in small holdings, with water, at prices ranging from $150 to $200 per acre. The land is said to be well adapted to growing alfalfa, and the creameries in the neighborhood will tend to offer inducements for stock raising. The land is about twelve miles from this city on the Anaheim road, and the Southern Pacific's branch lize to Whittier passes through the property. It is also traversed by the main line of the Santa Fé, which has a station at Santa Fé Springs. The Pacific Electric Railway Company's line to Whittier will pass within convenient walking distance of the tract, and will afford hourly or half-hourly service between this city and the property.

The placing of water on this large acreage will undoubtedly add to the productive capacity of that immediate section, and it is probably one of the most important private enterprises for reclaiming unproductive land that has recently been undertaken in this county. each, and the work of street improvement is to begin at an early date. Among the purchassers reported are Ralph Temple, one lot, north side Forty-sixth street, between Ascot avenue and Zamora street, $475; William Watson, two, south side Forty-eighth street, between Ascot and Compton avenues, $850; F. M. Ackley, one, south side Forty-seventh street, between Ascot and Zamora, $409; Louis M. Botsford, one, on Vernon avenue, between cross streets inst named, $800; J. A. Artrap, Mary E. Coilins, Arthur L. Harwood, C. S. Sprecher, and E. B. Knapp. For Subdivision.

Robert Marsh & Co. and Strong & Dickinson report the sale of 10 acres lying between Main street and Monita avenue and Forty-first and Forty-third streets, from Wesley Clark to Cotton A. Smith: consideration named, $20,000. Strong & Dickinson report the purchase from John Schmitz of eight acres adjoining the above on the north; consideration named, $18,000, and the two tracts will be Joined in one subdivision, and placed on the market at once by the firm last named.

In the Boettcher Tract.

In the Boettcher Tract.

The agents of the Boettcher tract, W. A. Johnson & Co., report the sale of seventeen unimproved lots during the past week at prices ranging from $525 to $550, and aggregating $10.723. Among them are the following: One bot on the north side of Thirty-second street, ninety feet west of Stanford avenue, to Isabella Glass, $550; one on the north side of Thirty-first, ninety feet east of Stanford, to John Vieth. $525; one, south side of Thirty-second. 200 feet west of Griffith avenue, to Stephen C. Sturges, $600; one, north side Thirty-second, fifty feet west of Stanford, to W. Jones, $650; one, south side Thirty-third, 100 feet east of San Pedro street, to Carrie F. Ledford, $775; one, south side Thirty-third, 250 feet west of Stanford avenue, to Preeman M. Kincald, $500; one, south side Thirty-second, 200 feet east of Stanford, to Otto G. Wildey, $600; one, south side Thirty-second, 200 feet east of Stanford, to Otto G. Wildey, $600; one, south side Thirty-second, 200 feet east of Stanford to Godfrem Edwards, $600; one, southwest corner Thirty-second and Griffith avenue, to Jacob Windish, $600 each, Other purchasers include, Thomas L. Simmons, Otto G. Wildy, Fred E. Griesner and Charles A. Millet. The buyers named will build. Lots in this subdivision are from forty to fifty feet in frontage and from 125 to 137½ feet in depth, and all extend to fifteen-foot alleys.

The preparations of manufacturing establishments, and large business bouses, for securing locations for such new buildings as their reasonable growth will cause them to need, are generally indicative of progress and development. The Central Industrial tract, which is located on the east side of Alameda street about 1400 feet south of Ninth street, is selling a good ginny unimproved lots that are to be south of which street, is seining a good plany unimproved lots that are to be recent purchases in this locality was made by Niles Pease of the furniture company of the same name. He secured a lot, 165x273 feet, unimproved, on the east side of Alameda street, 1400 feet south of Ninth, through the agencies of A. M. Parsons and Pobert Marsh & Co.; consideration named, 34758. It is provided, as are all lots of this tract, with a private driveway at one end and a railroad switch at the other. The latter extends from the Southern Pacific to the Santa Pé track. The buyer, foresering that the expansion of his business would soon necessitate the erection of a warehouse of larger proportions than the one his company now has, bought a lot of sufficient size to accommodate future requirements. Such sites at reasonable prices are becoming scarce, and the outlook for this tract becoming something of a center for large industrial enterprises seems good.

The Hughes Manufacturing Company is said to be about ready to begin the erection of its huge mill on its lot in this locality: the Alpin-Plaster Company has its factory-nearly completed; the new warehouse of the Brunswick. Balke, Collender Company is nearly finished; the Corona Flour Mills are running; and the Green-Marshall Paint Company, the Wisconsin Furniture Company, the wagner Electric Works, and several other large industrial enterprises are negotiating for lots.

While it is doubtful whether absolute perfection has yet been attained in fireproofing buildings, it is reasonably certain that this city has reached that period of development in which it is desirable should be secured in the more impor-tant business blocks. The experi-ments, moreover, of progressive ar-chitects, and of the city authorities, made with the view of securing knowledge of those materials that will, if used, tend to produce at least practically fireproof conditions in all cases are certainly deserving of com-mendation.

Blysian Park Tract.

The lots of the Elysian Park tract, a new subdivision adjoining Elysian Park, have been placed on the mark let by the McGarvin-Bronson Company at prices ranging from $300 to $850. They average from $0x10 to 40x 225 feet each, are possessed of numerous advantages in the way of location and accessibility, and seem to be good value at the prices at which they are offered.

pipe and flumes. A temporary plant, already installed, is said to be furnishing 300 inches of water, and to supply the immediate demand the company is preparing to extend the pipe lines of the present system, pending the installation of the larger plant. Farmers owning lands contiguous to the system are to be supplied with perpetual water rights at reasonable rates, and stockholders in the company will be guaranteed an inch of water, continuous flow, to every ten shares of stock. Easton. Eldridge & Co. in connection with the water company mamed, control about 1000 acres of land in this locality and are offering the same in small holdings, with water, at prices ranging from $150 to $200 per acre. The land is said to be well adapted to growing alfalfa, and the creameries in the neighborhood will tend to offer in ducements for stock raising. The land is about twelve miles from this city on the Anaheim road, and the Southern Pacific's branch lize to Whittier passes through the property. It is also traversed by the main line of the Santa Fé, which has a station at Santa Fe Springs. The Pacific Electric Railway Company's line to Whittier will pass within convenient walking distance of the tract, and will afford hourly or half-hourly service between this city and the property.

The placing of water on this large acreage will undoubtedly add to the productive capacity of that immediate section, and it is probably one of the most important private enterprises for reclaiming unproductive land that has recently been undertaken in this county. Fo: Subdivision.

Robert Marsh & Co. and Strong & Dickinson report the sale of 10 acres lying between Main street and Monita avenue and Forty-first and Forty-third streets, from Wesley Clark to Cotton A. Smith: consideration named, $20,000. Strong & Dickinson report the purchase from John Schmitz of eight acres adjoining the above on the north; consideration named, $18,000, and the two tracts will be joined in one subdivision, and placed on the market at once by the firm last named.

In the Boettcher Tract.

In the Boeticher Tract.

The agents of the Boeticher tract, W. A. Johnson & Co., report the sale of seventeen unimproved lots during the past week at prices ranging from $525 to $550, and aggregating $19.725. Central Industrial Tract.

The preparations of manufacturing establishments, and large business houses, for securing locations for such new buildings as their reasonable growth will cause them to need, are generally indicative of progress and development. The Central Industrial tract, which is located on the east side of Alameda street about 1400 feet south of Ninth street, is selling a good pluny unimproved lots that are to be used for such purposes. One of the recent purchases in this locality was made by Niles Pears of the furniture company of the same name. He secured a lot, 163x273 feet, unimproved, on the east side of Alameda street, a 1400 feet south of Ninth. through the agencies of A. M. Parsons and Robert Marsh & Co.; consideration named, 34750. It is provided, as are all lots of this tract, with a private driveway at one end and a railroad switch at the other. The latter extends the state of the southern Pacific to the state of the state of the southern Pacific to the state of the southern Pacific to the state of the southern Pacific to the state of the sum of the same name. driveway at one end and a railroad switch at the other. The latter extends from the Southern Pacific to the Santa Fé track. The buyer, foreseeing that the expansion of his business would soon necessitate the erection of a warehouse of larger proportions than the one his company now has, bought a lot of sufficient size to accommodate future requirements. Such sites at reasonable prices are becoming scarce, and the outlook for this tract becoming something of a center for large industrial enterprises seems good.

center for large industrial enterprises seems good.

The Hughes Manufacturing Company is said to be about ready to begin the erection of its huge mill on its lot in this locality: the Alpine Plaster Company has its factory nearly completed: the new warehouse of the Brunswick, Balke, Collender Company is nearly finished; the Corona Flour Mills are running; and the Green-Marshall Paint Company, the Wisconsin Furniture Company, the Wagner Electric Works, and the Armour Company stready have sites and establishments there, and several other large industrial enterprises are negotiating for lots.

S. T. Gulick, formerly of Portland, Or., who has for the past twelve months been engaged in real estate work in this city, has formed a partnership with R. S. Saunders, who has been one of the active agents of this locality for some time past, and the two will engage in the real estate business under the firm name of Gulick & Saunders.

An Object Lesson.

An Object Lesson.

Elsewhere in this review two pictures will be found which require but little description. One is a sketch of Broadway looking north from Third street, as it appeared in 1886. The other is a view of Broadway looking north from Third street, as it appears at the present time. In 1886 the business thoroughtare that is now known as Broadway was called Fort street, and, as the picture indicates, it was a handsome residence thoroughfare. The large tree shown in the yard on the right is now standing in the yard of the City Hall, where it was transplanted, with two other trees from the same locality, some years afterward. The pictures, together, constitute an object lesson in development.

Dr. Max Adler has let to C. Weesner the contract for erecting a six-room frame dwelling at No. 955 Vermont avenue. It will be of modern design and finish, and is to be completed by December 15.

HER POOTHILLS AND MOUNTAIN SCENERY.

MER POOTHILLS AND MOUNTAIN SCENERY.

Hollywood leads the list by being the only place where the pineapple, banana, cherimopo or custard apple, mango and like fruits grow out of doors without protection the entire year round; situated as it is in the frostless beit, the gardener has no fear of his fruits. One thing Hollywood can boast of, and that is the refreshing breezes from Old Pacific, which are life giving, and which give greater activity to the already active people of this little town.

From week to week one can see the steady growth of this most beautiful auturb of Los Angeles. Hollywood is especially blessed with fine, high-grade property. You can't make a mistake by purchasing property there, it embraces the very cream of the valley and it will before many years be a city composed of very valuable property. It has beautiful homes on every side, magnificent sourlist hotel to which will soon be added fifty more comfortable rooms. Where is there a place where one can go and be nearer to nature than at Hollywood, surrouned by her foothills and magnificent mountain scenery? What a picture for the artist's pen. To appreciate Hollywood you must see it. To appreciate Hollywood you must see it. To see it is to love it. Have you seen the blooming flower gardens that surround the De Longre manston? If not, go feast your eyes upon them. The many improvements that are constantly going on at Holly wood miss her and become inspired with Hollywood.

OCEAN PARK.

AND HER MANY IMPROVEMENTS.

Ocean Park is only nine and one-mail miles from Los Angeles. It is neares to the metropolis of Southern California than any beach resort. It is connected with Los Angeles by one steam road, two electric roads and a third one under construction. It cossesses a transit service which is not excelled by any city in the United States. The electric lines afford a fifteen-minute service. One may leave Ocean Park 7:20 in the evening and come within a block of any theater in Los Angeles. This quick service is one of the features that appeals to business men to locate in this delightful seasife town. Ocean Park is taking great pride in opening out a new business street, Marine avenue, It is being paved with asphalt, and has a restriction that all buildings must be of brick. Plans are being drawn for a handsome new bath house which will be fully equipped and ready for the summer season. Ocean Park will throughout the winter afford her townspeople as well as all her visitors the pleasure of listening every Sunday afternoon to a fine concert given by a well organized band from Los Angeles. Many people are being attracted to this little city by the courteous way in which they are always received. Marine avenue is being paved with asphalt, and only brick buildings will be allowed on this street. An 16-foot boulevard is being built from Brooks avenue to and including clubbouse grounds. A bathbouse is to be built very soon at a colt of $12,500.

Do you all realize who has brought about this great transformation? None other than "The Ocean Park Improvement Co." Much and great credit is due them.

REDONDO.

The marvel of ages, one of the mest favored spots upon this great slobe; where the hand of nature has most laviship arranged every detail for the comfort and blessing of mankind.

Here upon the banks of the placid Pacific we can look to the north, east, south and west, and all is grand and beautiful.

When the tide is out this broad, sandy beach is as smooth as asphalt, and level as a floor, an unrivaled course for driving, wheeling and riding. This back is also a field for clam-digging and shell-hunting: also good fishing may be had at all times. In the large and commodious pavillen The Long Beach Marine Band of nearly thirty pieces gives afternoon and evening concerts, free to all, the year round.

On the corner of First and Pine a large brick business block is to be built, ground now being broken for it. On Ocean Front, just off of Pins, another business block will soon be under erection. This building has now every room rested, and not a brick yet laid of its foundation. Doesn't that show confidence and procepitly?

Within the last ten days more than sixty thousand dollars' worth of property was sold in Long Beach, Mr. Hughes, manager of the Hoosier Real Eastic Co, has leased for a long term of years the property on Pine, formerly occupied by the Iows Restaurant, and is remodeling the place. PRINTING FRAME REGISTER.

An Automatic Device Designed to be a Help to the Photographer.

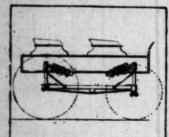

Ities in matters of this kind, it has been difficult to make much progress along these lines for the reason that it is practically impossible to sterilize the ordinary bristle brush without ruining Ispecially contributed to the Index, procedured to the action of the prints the operator, as a rule, must work with great celerity. As most persons know, these prints are made from a negative which is placed in a frame of considerable depth, which allows the sensitive paper to be put in position immediately under the negative and held there by a back, which is made in two parts are each one held in the frame by a spring. After the printing has proceeded some time the sectional back may be partially removed and the progress of the operation observed without disturbing the paper with its relation to the plate, it being held in its place by the remaining portion of the back. If the printing has not been done to the proper point the frame is closed and again exposed to the action of examination as well as placing and removing the paper it must not be exposed to the light. During this operation of examination as well as placing and removing the paper it must not be exposed to the light, but the work is usually performed under some shelter, and then, even there must be no prolonged exposure, or the print will be spoiled by the light.

The operator engaged in making these prints for an establishment conducting any great amount of business must work very fast, and in handling a number of different negatives at the same time finds it difficult to print just the right number, and it is inadvisable to handle the prints in this stage of the work to ascertain just how many have been stricken off. To meet the demand a registering device-has been recently designed by which the operator needs to give this matter no concern, for by setting the registed for the number of prints which he may desire the fact is announced as soon as the number has been reached. Imbedded at the side of the printing frame is a ratchet and pawl device which is operated by a plunger. The location of this is at a point where the examination of the print from time to time has no effect, but every time the back is taken entirely out, as is necessary for the removal of the print, the fact is registered on a dial in full view of the operator at all times. A stop placed at any of the figures of the dial will cause the operation of the device to cesse when the number has been reached. This informs the printer that he has made as many prints as he has any need for from that particular print, and the negative may now be removed and work proceeded with an-standards, which are suitably braced to give greater rigidity to the under frame. The body of the vehicle is supported from each standard by means of helical springs, which are inclined inwardly toward the center of the carriage body, thus exerting radial pulls to prevent lateral swaying without interfering with their vertical yielding movement when the vehicle is passing over rough roadways.

Hairbrush With no Bristles,

In recent years scientists and der-matologists have discovered that dis-cases of a certain nature, such as e-zema, seborrholcum, are of microbe origin, and, therefore, contagious to a very great extent, and it is a well-known fact that excessive dandruff is

It. In order to overcome this constant In order to overcome this constant source of danger, a substitute for the hairbrush has been devised, as shown in the accompanying cut. The principal object of the invention is to provide an article which will perform all the ordinary functions of the bristle brush, but of such shape and construction as to be wholly non-absorbent and capable of rapid and effective sterilization.

The article is constructed of rubber or metal, and the surface bearing the teeth are of such shape as to be soft and yielding, so that the action of the teeth are in every way the same as that of the bristles of a hairbrush.

Windowshade in Sections.

Windowshade in Sections.

There are many cases where it is desirable at times to have a windowshade capable of an adjustment whereby the lower part of the window may be screened off and the light âllowed to enter through the upper part and at the same time permit of the usual adjustment. Many efforts have been made to arrive at this, but the process has, as a rule, been of such a cumbersome character as to make them almost impractical. An exceedingly simple solution of the matter appears in a shade which has been recently introduced, which is shown. In the accompanying cut, and which dispenses with the roller entirely. This is done by making the shade in three pieces and suspending them in such a novel manner that the admission of light is almost under absolute control. In a general way the position of the three parts is regulated by a cord which is passed through a ring at the top of the window frame and then across to the side where it passes downward to some point of fastening within easy reach. This controls the raising and lowering of the three parts, as stated. The middle portion remains at any point to The Most Common Deformity.

The doctor had pushed an instrument that resembled a pair of hair curiers up the patient's nostril, and had made the nostril dilate until the patient felt that it resembled a megaphone. It wasn't exactly painful, but it was a new sensation that was peculiarly disagreeable.

"Nothing very bad," he said. "You are simply suffering from the most common of all deformities, a deviated septum. That little partition which separates the nose into two nostrils broken across the center, and one of the breathing places is stopped up. We'll just shave off the impediment, and when that is finished you will feel as though your lungs were of twice their present capacity.

"It is a strange thing that people neglect an important thing of this kind. The trouble it can and does cause is endless. You can take all the deformities—from clubfoot to wry-neck—all the malformations to which the human body is liable, and you cannot find as many cases as you will of nasal deformity.

"Yes, yes; I know it seems to be a triffe, but it isn't. In the first place, the stoppage of that nostril leads to improper breathing; bronchial and lung troubles result, or the vietim is bothered with a perpetual coid in the head that finally lands him in a case of chronic catarrh. I do not believe there is a mouth breather that has come to my office that did not have a misplaced septum. And mouth breathing is a disease, and a bad one. It causes snoring, a most uncomfortable habit for persons in the vicinity. It renders the membranes of the nase, throat and consumption, either directly or as the first predisposing condition for other ills, carry off more people than all other diseases combined, you will understand the importance of Keeping your nostrils open.

Current as a Preservative.

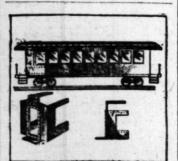

A very novel process by which it is proposed to treat beer and similar commodities to improve their keeping qualities without the direct use of drugs has been recently made public by the granting of a patent covering the process to Francisque Crotte, a resident of New York, who has achieved a reputation as an electrical inventor. The process is of a cataphoric nature, the drugs not being allowed to come in direct contact with the beer or other material to be preserved. The desired effect is secured in a much more effective manner, according to the claims of the inventor. The manner of procedure in following this process is to place the preservative material, which may be either boracic acid or the standard solution of peroxide of iron, into a long tube-like receptacle. In stripecting the beer to receptacle. In subjecting the beer to the action of the current this tube, which is made of copper silvered externally, is used as one of the electrodes, while the other is formed by making a contact with a wet sponge or other suitable means to the outside of the barrel directly opposite the end of the copper tube. A moderately powerful current is allowed to pass through the beer for a period of ten or fifteen minutes, whereupon a cataphoric action is said to take place and minutely small portions have been introduced into the beer. By the combined action of the current and the preservative substance conveyed by it and under its influence the organic life in the beer is rendered entirely harmless, so that the beer will remain in good condition without deterioration in any way for a great length of time. The infinitesimally small quantities of antiseptic which are conveyed into the beer are deposited under conditions favorable to the most effective action, and are, therefore, entirely sufficient to perform the work required. The quantities are so small that the presence of preservative cannot be detected by the taste.

equipment. The demand of the day is for larger and stronger cars. The big "battleships," as the steel cars now coming into very general use are known . Jong rallroad men, are very destructive of the ordinary wooden cars when made up in the same train and subjected to any rough handling. Casper Zimmerman of Chicago, who has invented a large number of improvements in the construction of railing road cars, has been recently granted a patent for a metal reinforcing shell to be applied to the ends of wooden passenger and freight cars. The protecting shell is made either of a single piece of cast metal or of plates of either malicable or castiron securely welded together, its thickness being sufficient to withstand the enormous pressure incidental to collisions. Arms projecting over the sides, roof and floor of the car are provided to afford means of attaching the protective devise to the car, and to better distribute the impact of the collision over the entire framework of the car.

The Rooster Finds the Moon. Because he had eaten too much sup-per, a rooster one night was unable to sleep, and he just had to sit up on the roost and gase out through the cracks in the henhouse roof at the stars while all the rest of his family slept and snored.

He thought the stars were very wonderful, and the moon seemed marvelous.

The next day, as he was crossing a field, he came across a ball—one of these fancy colored bouncing balls that children love to play with. Now, Mr. Rooster had never seen one of them before, and he did not know what it was.

The following twelve maxims form part of the will of Mayor Anselm Rothschild, the founder of the great banking house of Frankfort. They are now attracting attention in Europe and are recommended to those who desire to succeed in life:

So Mr. Rooster sat down by the ball and waited. The sun went down and it grew dark, and black clouds hid the stars and all the sky, but still the ball would not shine.
"It is very strange," declared the rooster, as he sat and waited.
All the other chickens had gone to roost hours before, but still the rooster waited and watehed. And the heart within cries, "Turn thee back." Then a prayer for the man that's tired! Then the wind began to blow and the thunder to roll and the lightning to flash, and the first thing Mr. Rooster knew it was raining in torrents, and he was soaked to the skin and most frightened out of his wits.

"Ill save the moon," he cried, and he grabbed up the ball and tried to run with it. When he reached the henhouse door the rain had stopped and the wind had swept the clouds from the sky, and Mr. Rooster looked up and saw the moon smiling sweetly at him." and say him. Big Australian Oysters.

"In the part of Australia in which I live we get oysters as big as a saucer." said Mr. Thomas Lewis of Adelaide. "They are twice the size of any I have seen in the United States, but in quality there is nothing to recommend them, for they have no flavor, and are so tough that it takes a pretty sharp knife to make any impression on them. Still there are people who manage to eat them after they have been stewed sufficiently long. In other parts of our country we have a better grade, approaching nearly to your American oyster, but hardly its equal. In fact, after my acquaintance with the Chesapaeke Bay products I am firmly of the opinion that in the matter of sea food the United States leads all mittons, an assertion that will be backed up by any man of wide travel."

The Southern California Bowling Association closed its second week's play, with the Monarch team still in play, with the Monarch team stati in the lead. Gilman of the Ocean Park team is not bowling to form, and the same may be said of a dozen other men.

The contest so far has been very interesting to enthusiasts of the sport, and will intensify, as the first haif of the play closes on November 8. Any player has a chance yet to finish the first half in the lead, and there will be a strong rivalry for this honor. During the past week Lacey of Pasadena made high roll of 283. If the timber on thousands of square miles of land now covered with chaparral had been cut under proper regulations, those lands would carry instead valuable stands of timber and would be permanent sources of wealth to the counties in which they lie. It would have been immensely to the advantage of every timber county in Northern California if such regulations could have been applied from the beginning. Objection—That mineral development will be retarded by the reserves and outside, except that large users of timber are required to purchase it from the government under permit. Fear is expressed that red tape will interfere with the prompt issuance of permits and that development will suffer. The regulations meet the case fully, and this fear is unfounded. The forest reserve service is acting more and more promptly and will continue to improve it, that direction, especially when the care of the reserves is transferred to the Bureau of Forestry, which seems likely to happen during the coming winter. For example, in the Black Hills Forest Reserve, the mining interests unite in support of the reserve, because they have come to see clearly that successful mining depends on a purmanent timber and stone Act, but not under regulations for the use of the order of every forest reserve, hat the making of a forest a up any resource is wholly itely mistaken.

on, provision is made for opening such lands to settlement, and no harm will have been done by their temporary protection.

Objection—That investment of capital in railroads and power plants would be discouraged. Answer—The success of power plants necessarily depends on continuous water supply, and on the holding of the soil by the forest to prevent the silting up of reservoirs. Power plants are much more likely to ipcate on streams whose headwaters are protected by forest reserves than elsewhere. Provision for the right of way for railroads through forest reserves is made by law, as well as for canals, ditches, telegraph lines, etc. So much timber is held in private hands where the railroads are contemplated that the creation of forest reserves would probably not retard their construction even if no provision were made for the sale of forest reserve timber. As it is, the government understands perfectly that timber from certain regions cannot be cut unless large bodies are made available at one time, and the law provides ample means for dealing with this matter. Transportation facilities are very desirable for the successful management of forest reserves.

The distinction between forest reserves and national parks should be kept clearly in mind. A national park is a sort of outdoor museum of beautiful things. A forest reserve is a factory where wood, water, and is are produced for the men who need them.

One of the first speculations to be reawakened by the marvels of radium was that which concerns the age of the was that winch concerns the age of the sun. This is a far-reaching conception in science. Geologists used to demand at least 200,000,000 years for the earth, and they were met by the physicists, headed by Lord Kelvin, with the reply that no such draft on the bank of time could be allowed. The veteran professor believed that he had demonstrated mathematically that the sun could be sor believed that he had demonstrated mathematically that the sun could not have shone more than 100,000,000 years, and most probably not more than 20,000,000. The doings of radium have altered all that, because, as Prof. G. H. Darwin says, in a letter to Nature of London, "We have recently learned the existence of another source of energy, and the amount available is so great as to render it impossible to say how long the sun's heat has already existed or how long is will last in the future." Lord Keivin treated the solar orb as a condensing white-hot body, slowly cooling, and gave this poor planet of ours some barely 10,000,000 years longer in which to support life; but now, thanks to radium, the old earth may have a length of life before it incomparably longer—that is, if the sun is made up of any similar radio-active materials, in addition to the iron, sodium, hydrogen, heilum, and other ordinary elements for which alone he has hiterto been

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquosone we publish an offer of $1000 for a germ that it cannot kill. We do that to convince you that liquid oxygen does kill germs.

Any drug that kills germs is a poison to you and it cannot be taken internally. Liquozone aione can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues. too, it is the only way know—the only way one can conceive of—to destroy the cause of any germ disease.

Kills With Oxygen.

Liquozone is simply liquid oxygen-no drugs, no alcohol in it. It is the dis-covery of Pauli, the great German chemist, who spent twenty years on it. His object was to get such an excess of oxygen in staple form into the blood that no germ could live in any mem-brane or tissue.

Oxygen is life to an animal—the very source of vitality. It is the essential part of air, Its effects are exhilarating, purifying. It is Nature's greatest tonic. But germs are vegetables, and this excess of oxygen—the very life of an animal—is deadly to vegetable matter. Liquozone charges the blood with such an excess of oxygen that nogerm can live where that blood goes. We spend fourteen days in making each bottle.

Two young ladies in society were on a street car a few days ago when a young man acquaintance boarded the same car. The three engeged in conversation upon things in general, when the young man noticed a euchre score card in the hand of one of the young ladies. This suggested a discussion of cards. The young lady opened with this monologue:

"Yes, we have just been spending the morning at a card party. We are members of a club that meets weekly, and whe we sa much fun. I am as mad, though, as I can be. TUNNEL TROUBLES. That big hole in the ground, the Third-street tunnel, has been a source of much trouble since its inception, and of much trouble since its inception, and in the short career of the Crown Hills Improvement Association it has had occasion to take several whacks at the unkempt condition of the piace. Last night the association again took up the subject, and discussed the breaks in the asphalt pavement made by the city water department's work in laying new pipes. It seems the street has been out of repair for several weeks, and the water department refuses to fix it. The president of the association was instructed to visit the water board to-morrow and ascertain just what it will do. The constant leakage from the roof of the tunnel has brought forth discussion, and the statement was made that this was caused by the drainage from the fountain at the Eddy Park, along Angel's Flight. This also will receive the attention of the association.

DR. DOWLING SHOWS SIGNS OF CONTRITION.

Rev. Dr. George Thomas Dowling publishes a little paper called The Remembrancer, containing announcements for his congregation and circulated in the pews. One page of the original Remembrancer prepared by Dr. Dowling for circulation today contained the old anti-Times boycotting notice of last week, which is printed below in the left-hand column. The printers had struck off the whole edition when Dr. Dowling rushed into their office and ordered the whole edition suppressed and a substitute printed. The anti-Times boycotting matter was taken out by the doctor's order and the page was reprinted as reproduced below in the right-hand column. It looks as though somebody had prayed with the doctor. BREAKS MEDICAL RECORDS.

Possibly for the first time in the history of this city a person arriving here with yellow fever is actually recovering. The medical law is that persons taken with the fever do not survive after passing a limit of 5000 feet above sea level, but this extraordinary good fortune has fallen to J. M. Nixon, superintendent of the Mexico National Express Company, operating along the lines of the Mexican National Railway! Last Sunday Nixon was brought to the City of Mexico suffering from a case of yellow fever contracted at Laredo. He was taken to the hospital of the Mexico National Railroad, and put under the skillful care of Dr. Westmoreland. There is no danger of contagion of yellow fever in this altitude, or indeed above 5000 feet, hence, his family has been able to visit Nixon since the fever broke Thursday. The physicians confidently expect his recovery.

He was the son of the founder of the famous banking-house of Barron & Forbes of Tepic, which wielded enormous influence and power in Mexico during the first haif of the last century. He had just completed his 74th year. Though of English extraction, he was a Mexican citizen, and some years ago served as an Alderman in this city. He had, however, belonged to the British army, serving through the Crimean War, where he obtained the rank of captain. In honor of his memory the Jockey Club was heavily draped, and several social events were indefinitely postponed. The funeral was attended resterday by President Diaz and hundreds of friends in the highest circle of society.

MEXICO A GOOD MARKET. MEXICO A GOOD MARKET.

The report that Ward A. McConiey, Vice and Deputy Consul-General of the United States in this capital, has Vice and Deputy Consul-General of the United States in this capital, has filed with Secretary Cortelyou, of the new Department of Commerce and Labor at Washington, among other things relates that about 20 per cent. of the agricultural implements and tools used in Mexico are modern and the other 80 per cent, are crude and primitive. Only the large hacendados use modern machinery, and that within the past eight or ten years. Labor in Mexico is very cheap. Farm laborers get from 15 to 50 cents United States currency per day, and in many parts are scarce and unreliable. About ninety-five per cent, of all the modern agicultural implements and tools used in Mexico are imported from the United States, the rest from Germany. The implements mostly used are reapers, thrushers, mowers, and from plows with single handle and wooden frame. American manufacturers will overtake them, for the latter are working hard in that direction. Mexico's scarcity of manufacturers and implement makers is on account of the soarcity of fuel, and undeveloped condition of iron deposits.

It is impossible to ascertain the amount of liabilities, but the opinion prevails in the streets and clubs that the concern will be unable to pay over 20 cents on the dollar. The cause of the fallure is believed to be kiting, that is buying exchange and placing the same by cable abroad where the best ratees are procurable. It is the first of the group of ten banks in this city operating on American and Mexican capital to go to the wall, and it is hoped it will be the last, as the institutions are believed to be founded in good faith.

Weakness, Its Cause and Cure.

Nearly every man suffering from so-called vital weakness has a curable cause which is at the bottom of the trouble. The main causes are stricture, varicocele, enlarged, inflamed prostate, results of abuses and excesses, isolfy treated derefers, etc., which obstruct the functional centers. When a man applies to us suffering from weakness we find and remove the cause just the same as an expert origineer of electrical finds and removes the cause when machinery fails to do its work. Whatever that signed statement is I am positive it was forged. The two letters that Harrison claims were written by Mrs. Rogers are also base forgeries. Deputy Constable McCulloch was asked why Mrs. Lawless was not present to testify.

"Oh," he said, "I understand there was an agreement between both sides that the case should go over."

LeCompte Davis, Esq., attorney for the defense, said that the case was postponed because Grider wanted to go to the funeral of the young off who was murdered in San Francisco. When the comment was made that these continued postponements looked queer, he said pointedly, "Let me tell you that whenever Mrs. Lawless wants to appear as a witness in his case, it will be tried all right."
Deputy District Attorney Fleming hotly denied that any agreement had been made to have the case postponed. "Let me tell you," said Fleming, excitedly, "Mrs. Lawless may have gother diamond back, but she has got to appear on the witness stand and say so. If she tries to go away I will have her 'pinched."

"When she first brought this case to this office I gave her fair warning that we are not running a collection agency.

confronted with evidence, he admitted the charge of blackmailing and of inpersonating an officer.

Freeman has been identified as the Burglar of the Fisher residence. Yesterday morning Miss May Walper, the servant girl who was so roughly handied by the burglar, was taken to police headquarters and Freeman was led out for her inspection.

After one glance at the culprit, she exclaimed: "That's the man." On regarding him more closely her conviction was just as strong.

The police are thoroughly satisfied with the young woman's identification of her assailant, as she had exceptional opportunities to observe him. It will be remembered that, according to Miss Walper's story, the burglar called at the Fisher residence on the afternoon when only Miss Walper was in. He told her that he was an electrician and

Rev. Frank D. Sheets, formerly of Chicago, but recently transferred to the Court-street Methodist Church of Rockford, Ill., arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and will preach in the First Presbyterian Church both morning and evening today.

Rev. Mr. Sheets is an old acquaint-ance of Rev. Dr. Robert McIntyre of the First Methodist Church, this city, and it was through him that Mr. Sheets came hery to preach to the Presbyterians. It is understood that the minister in question is ready to transfer his pastorate if the congregation of the First Church should desire to have him do so. The Third Presbyterian Church of this city has just secured a pastor through Dr. McIntyre.

Mr. Sheets's subject this morning will be "The Foundations of God," and this evening, "The Practical Gospel." He has been asked to fill the pulpit for two Sundays, and will consequently remain over another week, He is said to be a man of much eloquence and unusual ability.

,"She's going into the shopping district to contract about fifty dollars worth of debts."
"Did she tell you so?"

The Social World. * Men and Women in Society. * Personal Intelligence.

On Saturday evening a large number of friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Salyer, celebrated with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their weeding, at their new home, No. 636 South Hope street. The house was tastefully decorated with roses, mammoth chrysanthemums and potted plants and presented a very attractive setting to the eye, while the musical programme in the hands of Fordyce Hunter was no small feature of the entertainment. Besides a pleasing recitation by Mrs. Coral H. Sloan, vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. B. Carter and Miss Edith Salyer.

Among the clever story tellers were L. C. Gates, C. O. Carter, D. C. Salyer, Dr. F. M. Parker, Prof. J. H. Francis and Rev. W. C. Bowman, Many beausiful presents were in evidence to commemorate the occasion, among which was a huge candelabra from the employes of the Pacific Music Company. A novel feature of the evening was the souvenir presented to each guest through an improvised mail department, C. A. Salyer acting as the country postmaster.

Autumn Hop.

The Engarita Club gave an autumn hop at Kramer's on Friday evening. Decorations in the club colors were quite prominent, over three hundred couples being present.

The club also gave an initiation and Dutch supper on Monday evening in which Messrs. H. Hafiner, C. Russell, H. Megarry, C. Messerly, J. Fisher and Guy Rice were put through the club initiation rites.

The "We Are Seven" ladies or-chestra was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Harry Cardell at her home, No. 588 Grand avenue Monday after-noon. Those present were Mrs. Re-bard, Misses Dering, Morris, Sayre, Jones, Longiey and Mrs. Cardell.

painted in carnations and even the prize for a unique guessing game was a bright bunch of carnations, which was won by Mrs. Matthew Robertson. The game played was something new and strange, called paradoxically, the "Game of the Ages," and a bright and clever idea it is of whatever age.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Quein entertained on Thursday evening at their home, No. 226 Avenue 63, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Horton and daughter, of Seattle, Wash., who are making a tour of the State. The tables in the dining-room were beautifully decorated with smilax and rosses. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Horton and Miss Horton, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Partridge, Mr. and Mrs. W. upon the scene was from this weird

Our citizens may well congratulate themselves that they are to and at Fort Casey, interest is daily growing in this eighth wonder of the world. Our citizens may well congratulate themselves that they are to see the first commercial use of the Pacific Company's system, and everybody is ready to wish it all kinds of success."

Such is the salutation of the Port Townsend (Wash.) Morning Leader to the enterprise of Gen. New, local patron saint of ether waves and sparking masts. Gen. New is fast extending his systems, and his company celebrated their Port Townsend inauguration on the 17th inst, with a gathering of leading scientists from various parts of the country. The Chamber of Commerce in this northern town also spread itself for the distinguished visitors, in so far as hospitalities could be given without trespassing upon their time, and besides chartering a steamer for an ocean pleasure tri;, gave carriage rides to points of interest.

Port Townsend papers have "boosted" vigorously for Gen New from the start, and have not allowed his undertaking to lack for support of the press. They evidently believe, as they state, that a favor has been conferred upon Port Townsend by its selection as a stopping place for the new telegraphic contrivances.

In brief, the Leader says: "The wireless-telegraph system will be a great advertisement for Port Townsend, and the Leader has welcomed the enterprise from the moment its genial manager, Gen. A. L. New, first stated his plans to a reporter of this paper."

Rev. A. C. Smither, pastor First Christian Church, who with his wife spent the summer in Europe, will on next Thursday night at Blanchard Hall give a lecture on his trip entitled "Under Eight Flags." Mr. Smither traveled with his eyes open and will doubtless give an instructive and humorous recital of such sounds and scenes as came under his observation. The proceeds of the lecture are for the benefit of the pipe-organ fund of Mr. Smither's church.

WHISKY VS. PROGRESS.

A Ventura clergyman stirred up the animals in that city last Sunday by preaching a sermon in which he hit out straight from the shoulder at the drink demon and its attendant evils. He referred to the fact that that place of 2500 inhabitants had sixteen saloons. Since then two more licenses have been granted, thus bringing up the average to one saloon to every 160 residents, including men, women and children. It is very evident that Ventura is in need of the services of Dr. Chapman and the Anti-Saloon League, It is As indicated by the local bank clearfags, business in this city for the week

a million dollars a day and aggregating

And there is crying need for education of this kind. There is crying need for it among the rank and file of organised unionists, and especial need for it among the so-called leaders of organised unionism. If the rank and file of unionists were better educated in the duttes and responsibilities of citizenship, in the simple laws of industrial economics, in the fundamentals of civic morality, and in the plain gospel of meum and teum, shere would be fewer strikes, less lawlessness, and a distinctly higher code of would be fewer strikes, less lawless-ness, and a distinctly higher code of moral action in the ranks of unionism. Mr. Rogers of the Ventura Presbyterian Church seems to be a pretty good sort of forerunner in Dr. Chapman's work. He doesn't hesitate to call a spade a spade, nor tackle evil even if he finds it in what the local politicians may consider high places.

If the citizens of Ventura are wise they will profit by the lecture Mr. Rogers ave them and go to work to bring about the reform which he suggested. They cannot afford to let their city be run by the saloon and gambling elements. As he said, "Whisky kills people and kills cities." Saloons do not attract as residents people who build good homes and promote the prosperity of a community. Their presence in such numbers as exist in Ventura gives the social atmosphere a bad oder and offends the nostrils of decent people.

The rum power is becoming more

It has also been proposed to use electric troiley lines for furnishing the energy required to propel the fire engines and to operate them after reaching the fire. At all events, science and mechanics have advanced to a point where the use of the horse for hauling fire engines to fires can practically be dispensed with, and this should be done as generally as possible, in the interest of higher efficiency in the art, or science, of fire-fighting. The horse-less age is upon us in good earnest. The speed achievements of the "red devil" as a pleasure and business vehicle have demonstrated the value of the principle for other purposes; and one of these is obviously the propulsion and operation of fire engines. You carinot have 'hese chances but a few days more—perhaps but a day or two more for there are so few lots left in our hands for sale that with the present demand they will be quickly disposed of. Don't be merely a bread winner. Become a money maker by investing at once in a lot in Grand View Tract. That the lots in this tract will command higher prices in the near future than any other residence lots in San Pedro is a certainty. To begin with it is far and away the most beautifully located tract for residence purposes in the entire Harbor City. From any lot in the tract there can be had a splendid and uninterrupted view of the grand old Pacific ocean, the big outer harbor, the busy inner harbor, and the thriving city of San Pedro itself. Just two blocks east of the tract, along Pacific Avenue, will run the new Huntington Electric line, now building, and which, so the company's officers say, will be in operation by next January. In the front of every lot cement walks and curbs are being laid. But greatest of all reasons why Grand View Tract will be the favorite tract for home-building, is that the 'no saloon' restriction inserted in every deed guarantees immunity forever against the location of a saloon anywhere on the tract. The $1500 building restriction assures the construction of a good class of residences, the foregoing reasons furnish ample assurance that Grand View Tract must and will be the favorite residence section of the city—the "Nob Hill" of San Pedro. It is by long odds not alone the best investment proposition in the Harbor City, but one of the best on the entire Coast. Hurry one of the number unsold is especially well located. See us tomorrow about it. Don't delay. Buy now. Be a money maker instead of only a bread winner.

DON'T WAIT

San Pedro is a point where more money is being invested today for the establishment, extension and development of commercial and transportation facilities than any place in the country, fifty times its size. The government and the capitalists who have invested and are investing their millions there for these purposes are a standing guarantee of the stability of San Pedro as an investment center and these expenditures mean a doubling of population within a year and likewise a doubling of real

"FURNISHED ROOMS" AND WHY.

"One of the reasons why we see so many furnished room' signs," said one of the downtown realty men yesterday, "is that the people who pay the high prices now prevailing for flats and cottages try to 'make good' by renting one or two of the rooms."

Rental prices as now quoted are somewhat higher, but not a great deal higher than they were a year ago. Since two years ago, however, there has been a material increase.

At the present high prices of material and labor it costs $400 or $500 per room to build a good cottage or house equipped with modern conveniences.

No. 156 Fifth Ave., New York. How the Girl Who Had 10 Social Training, but Who Realized Her Faults in

It was a young woman who in pressed upon my mind, even more strongly than the young business man, the keenness with which a lack of social culture is felt by those who. with comfortable means, fair education and sufficient leisure for enjoy-ment, are still unable to find pleasure, interest and comfort in social life.

I had known her mother years before. The girl traveled nearly five hun-most without telling you,

"I do honestly believe that father congratulated himself that his Jack and Janet, having received this much instruction, were equipped for the social duties of life.

"The truth was that our manners ran to weed. We grew careless. We entertained a little—not very much.

"There are a dozen women I know who have not half of my looks or intelligence, but somehow or other they are successful, and I am not.
"I do not seem to get on. It has worried me for a year or more. When I would see a successful woman I would find myself thinking. 'Oh, well, she has charm—was born with it, and I was not.'"

"Do you think so still," said I. For in that foolish belief lies the great stumbling block to real improvement.

stumbling block to real improvement.

"No, indeed," said Janet. "Not any more. I have watched too closely for that. In the last few months I have seen women who, I am absolutely certain, are making a serious and systematic study of tact and the uses of personal magnetism, and—I suppose you could call it—the tenets of the higher etiquette."

"That is good," said I. "You are well started, Janet, for you have evidently given enough thought to the subject to strike the truth that lies at the base."

"That is why I have come to you."

"That is why I have come to you," said Janet. "It is really an art that can be learned, isn't it?"
"NEVER TOO LATE." "Most certainly," said I. "For an intelligent, ambitious American man

"My social training has started too late. I realize now how little training there was in our home life.

"You knew mother and father. You know that our family is one of the best in the South.

"You know, too, that mother was always tired, almost an invalid. And you know how business cares, all through the time when Jack and I were children, occupied father's mind to the exclusion of almost everything else.

"Jack and I were taught to keep our elbows off the table, our knives out of our mouths, and our shoes off the sofa.

"We were trained also to say 'please' and 'thank you,' and to turn out our toes. Further than that—no training at all.

"I do honestly believe that father congratulated himself that his Jack and Janet, having received this much instruction, were equipped for the so-time the whom is so much in earnest as to come to me for advice instruction, were equipped for the so-time the when one is so much in earnest as to come to me for advice the have have earnestness enough to fol-whom we had grown to be like brother and sister.

"Somehow or other in this free and careless relation, there was little or no element of formal courtesy.

"So you see, then, that I have grown up practically untrained. So has Jack, who is wofully awkward and unsuccessful.

A DETERMINED BRIDE.

"I am married now. As I think it over, and as I realize my social shortcomings, I wonder how it ever happened. I have always how so crude and awkward. But here am I, facing the duties and responsibilities of a home-maker and hostess, without an atom of training.

"And I do so want to succeed. I know dear Will wants me to shine in society, to make the most of our opportunities. I will confess to you that he thinks it important for his career.

"I want it myself, for I am human and feminine. I should dearly like to self-culture. All Riskis Reserved.]

Exquisiteness in Women's Garments

Our store isn't the largest in Los Angeles, but our store has advantages which have resulted in this large business.

Constantly-almost daily-pretty things are selected for us in New York and sent by quick express. The styles that attract attention on Fifth Avenue are shown here only six or seven days later.

While we show the most exquisite evening gowns and theater wraps ranging as high as $90, yet we ask special attention to our great variety of stylish and exclusive suits from $20 to $40, and our broad range of walking suits from $15 to $35.

Our policy of moderate prices, which has made our success so pronounced in one year's time, is still our fixed rule. You can dress in perfect taste for less money by confining your purchase to our stock.

In all the following lines we shall have new and splendid ideas ready for you Monday.

Do You Ever Use

Patterns--A Hint.

Many women are not as successful in using patterns as they would desire—Banner patterns are so simple that any woman with the least experience in cutting or sewing can obtain the most pleasing results.

The patterns produce a perfect fit, and the styles are the correct modes of Berlin. Paris, London, and New York. No patterns ever devised have won so many friends as the Banner Patterns. These are sold only by Hale's, and the prices are 10c and 15c.

Next time try a Banner pattern and see for yourself if you are not more pleased when your sewing is finished.

Our Greatest Bargain in Black Silk 85c

. 27-Inch Imported Black Taffeta, Regularly $1.25.

Many stores have attempted to steal some of our silk business. If it comes to a necessity we shall quote prices that are lower than regular wholesale rates. In other words we shall at all times maintain the lowest prices on good silks in Los Angeles.

This leads up to the great bargains for tomorrow. Rich, imported black taffeta (unde in Switzerland) full 27 inches wide, a silk that has never sold in any store below $1.25, and Hale's price for tomorrow—85c. It's that soft, rich silk that will not cut or break. It has a bright, handsome lustre, and every critic of silks recognizes it as one of those superior grades so seldom found at a bargain.

And there will be plenty of it for all. One of our windows has been given up to the display of it.

Modish Wearables for Women.

Best Creations of Paris, Berlin and New York. The Largest Assortment to Select from in Los Angeles.

The progressive spirit of the Hamburger store is well known to the Los Angeles public. We are ever alert to secure the very best grades of merchandise for our patrons and especially is this true in securing women's wearables. Dame fashion, has a peculiar way of stamping her approval on products and for many years the gay city of Paris has been given preference as to leading in styles. Yet this is just; for certain it is that the foremost modistes of the world are in Paris and their garments are accepted as the proper things by every fashion leader on both continents. However, London and Berlin are two fashion centers of note; and even in our own country, New York is but little behind her European sisters. To get together such an assortment of wearables as we are showing this season has taken months of careful planning and judicious buying but with a resident buyer in Paris and another in New York we think we have fulfilled our duty and are satisfied to let the Southern California public pass judgement on the garments we have selected. Naturally all are of best material, are strictly newest in fashion and as to prices which are moderate we can absolutely assure you that every garment displayed in our immense cloak and suit department is but reasonably priced for while many of the models are exclusive there is no exclusiveness in our prices. You are making a mistake if you do not visit us before making your fall and winter purchases.

the American foreign trade in agricultural conditions in South Africa present features common to agricultural countries the world over in addition to others, eculiar to itself. Of these latter two of the leading are insufficiency of labor (chiefly native) and a deficient supply of rain in the wet season, necessitating extreme dispatch in sowing and harvesting operations. These two factors make for the use of mechanical appliances in all departments of farming in a high degree and this itendency has been accentuated in recent years by the reduction of draft animals caused by diseases.

South Africa embraces a multiplicity of climates, from sub-tropical to temperate, and the heat of the sun either pulverizes the soil into sand or bakes it to the soildity of stone, thus making it difficult to cater to its requirements. Other peculiarities are the relative sparseness of the agricultural poulation, the unmanageable extent of the farmers as a body. These disadvantages, however, are being overcome by the manifacturers who are introducing implements with intelligence and vigor. The more intelligence and vigor. Th bilind so that the rushing current of air forces the ship downwards. To prevent the craft from tilting as the aeroplanes change their position, the doctor has placed a fifty-gallon tank at each end of the car. The tanks are connected by a pipe running through a pump so that water may be forced from one tank to the other to trim or ballast the car.

The propellers, of which there is a pair on each side of the framework, carry six blades each and will be driven by motors having a comblined force of 159 horse power.

Once in the air the doctor will depend upon the great rudder at the stern to keep the vessel to her course. His balloon will have a lifting power equal only to the weight of the car. As the car weighs about seven tons, the gas bag has to be a pretty big affair, and its total area is about 230,000 cubic feet.

Dr. Barton hopes to make his aerial trip early in October, and all he asks for is good weather. If the preliminary flights about the open country near his workshop are successful he will take a sail across London, and he declares the next trip after that will take him to Scotland.

chemicals, which often prove as great a danger in their work as the flames of burning structures.

The new "lung" which may be provided for all the members of the fire departments will supply the firemen with a fresh breath of oxygen when all about him are stifling clouds of smoke or teeming wayes of polsonous chemical gases. Such a general strangulation as occurred last week during the escape of ammonia fumes will be entirely obviated by the new apparatus. The fireman with his little air reservoir carried under his arm or upon his back will breathe only what he carries with him.

This new member of the fireman's official anatomy may be strapped to his back. The apparatus which is now in use in some of the fire departments of Europe consists first, of a mask which may be attached to the helmet by means of straps.

The visor of mica is protected by wire. Attached to the air reservoir or "lung" is a copper tube which transmits compressed air to the mouth of the wearer. A second tube emits the used air.

The air is injected into the man's real lungs at a normal pressure, so that breathing itself is rendered wellingh mechanical.

The ears are in no way obstructed and the ringing of a tiny bell is the fireman's warning that the supply of compressed air in his knapsack is running low. It is then necessary for him to leave the smoke and get a new supply of fresh air.

Officials of the Boston department are not unanimous regarding the effectiveness of such an apparatus, for it is believed that in many cases the luse of the inspirator would tend to hinder rather than assist the men using it, but it is nevertheless believed that its adoption would under fectiveness of such an apparatus, for it is believed that in many cases the saving of lives, be of much service,—[Boston Post.

Mrme. Schumann-Heink the great contraito celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of her debut on the operatic stage on Thursday. October 15. On October 15, 1878. Mrme. Schumann-Heink, then Ernestine Roessler made her operatic debut at the Royal Opera in Dresden in the part of Azucena in "Il Travatore." Her success in it was phenomenal and the outcome was her determination to remain on the operatic stage until she had made a career. When Mrm. Schumann-Heink's parents knew that she had signed a contract to sing in opera, they did everything in their power to have it cancelled, but the young singer pleaded so hard with them to allow her to appear, only once, that they relented, with the result, that after she had made her debut, they withdrew their objections altogether. Mrm. Conductor Duss,

No figure in the musical world today excites more comment than that of J. C. Duss, conductor of the Metropolitan Orchestra. Duss hails from the village of Economy, Pa. Economy is "Side scenes will stand on carriages will stand on carriages." "Side scenes will stand on carriages."

what the encyclopedias call a "Socialist settlement." It is on the right bank of the Ohlo River about seventeen miles from Pittsburgh, and was planted in 1825 by immigrants from Germany. The inhabitants own everything in common—at least they did until lately—3500 acres of land, about 150 houses, a church, a school, a museum, and wool, cotton and silk factories. A few years ago the old proverb "Too many cooks spoil the broth" was exemplified in Economy. The business affairs of the settlement got into confusion and it began to look as if the pretty little village of Economy with its interesting history must loss its individuality. In the nick of time a financier suddenly appeared in the person of one of its members, John C. Duss. Duss brought order out of chaos and so systematized the financial work of the settlement that affairs have gone prosperously there ever since. It was as organizer of the Economy Band that Duss first became associated with music. As conductor of that body of musicians Duss went on the road and won a series of triumphs. But Duss had even higher ambitions. He wanted the Metropolitan Operahouse Orchestra in the interim between the close of one opera season and opening of the necessary financial backing and last spring startled the musical world by calmly declaring that he had engaged the orchestra with Mme. Nordica as sololist for the tour. The appearance of this combination here will be one of the winter. Schumann-Heink will be the other.

Years ago, when L. Behymer was a struggling schoolboy in shelbyville. Ill., Augusta Cottlow, the celebrated planiste who appears under his management in California, was a chum of the local impresario's sister, and a six-year-old musical prodigy in the small town in which which she lived. At that time Len had the pleasure of drawing both little misses to school on a hand both little misses to school on a hand sted.

Behymer was even then a manager, and got up a lecture course under the auspices of the Shelbyville High School. In one of his "courses" appeared Augusta Cottlow, "child prodigy." After this first appearance, at which the child's talent was demonstrated, a number of concerts were given to enable her to get sufficient means to study abroad. Her mother was poor, but a talented linguist, and she secured apartments in Berlin, near the large music schools, and gave language lessons to help defray her daughter's expenses.

Another Fame-winner,

Another Fame-winner,

A few months ago one of the dailies published a picture of Miss Mildred Kearney of San Francisco and announced that she was going East to win fame and fortune on the operatic stage. From what was said of her one might judge that she was a distinguished vocalist who had only to be heard in New York to be sought after by all the leading managers. It is that sort of fatuous puffery which incites young women devoid of talent to adopt a stage career. I like to keep track of them in order to blazon their triumphs, Mies Kearney is now playing a thinking part in a comic opera called "Winsome Winnie," which was produced last week in Baltimore.—[Town Talk.

From the one nearest the audience will be unwound a transparent net, on which will be painted large foreground objects, such as trees, rocks and bushes. This strip will move rapidly. Then will come a strip containing middle distant objects, moving more slowly, and so on until the last set of rollers is reached, bearing the background of sky and mountains, or whatever it may be, and moving very slowly, or not at all."

It will thus be possible to show clearly Siegfried's trip down the Rhine, a scene that hitherto has been merely indicated by the music in the orchestra.

The Social Ladder.

People take strainge ways of getting into society. Sir Thomas Lipton took his first step toward the heighs of trade by driving two pigs—harnessed and richly caparisoned—about the streets and making them haul a cart. and richly caparisoned—about the streets and making them haul a cart. An ambitious young person resolved to profit by the Libton idea. He owned no pigs to drive; but since amasement and resultant gossip were the objects sought. He would as easily approach them by another trail. After deepest thought the young person threw himself into the basin of a park fountain on a wager of gloves with a girl. In a moment the inner circle knew his merit; it spread wide its arms, and his status was fixed. And he showed his appreciation. He appeared later in the thoroughfares of Newport carrying a gigantic rag doll and later still he gave a dinner to a group of lapdogs and thereby emphasized his fame.

Then there was that other male person, who, as seemed natural enough, had for his intimate friend a monkey from Borneo's wilds. And then, too, there was that dinner given by one of society's queens with the Borneo monkey as the gueet of honor. Besides, do not folk flourish with horseback dinners at $200 a horse? Have we not cotillions whereof the favors are cats and rats? Are there not receptions at which the unwilling animals of the barnyard are made to mingle sorrowfully with their brethren of the drawing-rooms? These should burn like beacons to guide all on a hunt for social eminence.—[Everybody's Magazine.

Those saunterers on the Parisian boulevards or in the Champs Elysees who kick out of their path the still smoking end of a cigar have little idea that the despised scrap of tobacco forms a branch of commerce which employs no fewer than 200 persons and brings in yearly the sum of $10,-000. What, if I may ask, is the object of your visit to Washington?"

"Oh." I replied, swelling just a little with conscious pride, "I am a member of Congress from Nevada."

"And you," said I, "is your stay here likely to be proionged."

"For some years it will be," was his answer. "I am United States Senator from Louislana."

In 1891 professional business carried me, temporarily, to a mountain county in North Alabama. Lured by the beaky and cheapness of attractive itmber and coal land on the bank of the Tennessee River. I purchased a half interest in it. I endeavored to organize a company in New York to work it, but as soon as I mentioned that it was in Alabama, the glad hand of the sew York investor turned to loe, and he barely refrained from telephoning to the police to come and take me away. Returning to Alabama I toid my, associate owner; that unless we could obtain local cipital, or provide complete to work that unless we could obtain local cipital, or provide and you, associate owner; that unless we could obtain local cipital, or provide commanded a company of Confederate cavalry during the war, and he was greatly disappointed at my failure to negotiate funds. "Why, what's the matter with them?" said he. "Well," I replied, "they do not consider money invested in Southern property as safe."

Profits in Cereals and Breadstuffs

Seven years ago Mr. Post, far from being in good health, began making his Postum in a barn in Battle Creek, Mich. "There are no fashionable sections on the road to success." He had to borrow the money to purchase the grain to experiment with, and had to go out and demonstrate the grain to experiment with, and had to go out and demonstrate the grain to experiment with, and had to go out and demonstrate the grain to experiment with, and had to go out and demonstrate the grain to experiment with a grain to experiment with a grain to experiment with the grain the grain to experiment with the grain the grain to experiment with the grain the quality of his manufacture in person, and his first advertising was done as credit. With faith in his product and persistent publicity, he has become many times a millionaire and besides being a heavy subscriber to a goodly number of public benefactions in the town of Battle Creek, he keeps as elegant steam yacht in New York haror—this instance is merely to move the great profits pertaining to the manufacture of one particular cer cal food.

School Teachers to Millionaire

Another Cereal King is A. C. Wisner, responsible for Malta-Vita, the ell-known breakfast food. Not so long ago, Mr. Wisner was a struggling hool teacher up in the State of Gregon. Mr. Wisner removed to Battle reek, took hold of the food business there and after a series of discoursements perfected a way to manufacture of Malta-Vita. Like Mr. Post, this stileman was also short of Bath, but interesting Chicago capitalists in the series of Malta-Vita he was enabled to raise sufficient cash to push it dore the public, with what success everybody of intelligence knows. Mr. Finner is worth at an estimate more than two millions of dollars, and the sales resulting from his product will go over chose figures in one year lone.

Largest Bakers in the World

Other bread and cracker institutions have also reaped large advantages their profits, not only in this country, but in Europe, notably Hunty & Palmer, and Peek, Frean & Co., in England, the largest manufacturers crackers, biscuits and bread in the world, the members of these com-

Purther instances could be cited in evidence of the profits pertaining this class of manufacturers, but enough may be gleaned from the foreis class of manufacturers, but enough may be gleaned from the fore-to warrant our statements concerning the prosperity of the Pacific Pood Company. We are on the ground of the raw product, the golden fostered and ripened under California skies growing almost to our as it were, thus saving the expense of long distance shipping which food companies are compelled to pay.

The money placed here will help build up a grand home industry, the sourcer in this instance going hand in hand with the manufacturer.

Another pertinent fact after mearness to raw material is cheap power. The section is fortunate. In a region of sizes, again, the manufacturer in this section is fortunate. In a region of sizes of miles from coal fields, Los Angeles was handicapped until stroleum was discovered, but, now within the limits of the city, are wells practically minimum figures.

No section of the country of such character and promise can exist should a great city and a manufacturing and distributing center. Los series has become such a center, and in genuine substantial husiness porth has no superior on the coast for its claims and facilities for building a greater center.

The Southern Pacific and Santa Fé railroads open the city to eastern sorthern marts, and the Sait Lake route, now building, will shorten the sact to eastern markets and the great trade centers by 500 miles; quently, taking everything under consideration the Pacific Pure Food many has begun business under most favorable conditions as to all the ments of a manufacturing business.

THE SOUTHWESTERN SECURITIES COMPANY.

That the Pacific Pure Food Company is not a "castle in the air" but a real bona-fide concern, may be easily demonstrated by going out to the factory and offices on Slauson avenue, near Alameda street, this city, at the junction of the Santa Fé and Southern Pacific railways, where the plant is situated (on their own property of three acres.) consisting of a three-story and basement brick building with the apopintments of a modern cereal, bread, cracker and biscuit manufactory, among which may be mentioned a $4000 oven with a capacity of baking fifteer hundred loaves an hour, or fifteen thousand loaves in a day of ten hours. As one of the officers stated: "We court investigation the more skeptical you are, the better we are pleased, because we have pounds of proof to finally convince

As for further evidence of the company's existence, there may be mentioned the company's products, which may be had at all first-class confectioners and grocery stores, such as: Sunshine Cereal Food; Sunshine Bread (in the form of French, Rye, Graham, home-made, Vienna, whole wheat and milk bread.) Doughnuts, Cakes, Pies, Layer and Angel Cakes, and twenty different kinds of cookies, all of these articles being prepared by and under the supervision of men of experience in this line of work, men who have come from the great cereal food factories of Bettle Creek, Mich., and who fully understand the buying of the proper kind of grain, the manner in which it should be formulated, and where and how to ship to best advantage. Men whose knowledge of the business will not only be of immense advantage from their former connection with the Battle Creek institutions, but viewed from a monetary standpoint will be able from their experience to save hundreds of collars to the Pacific Pure Food Company. There will be no money wasted or time lost in experimenta. Mr. Post, of Poetum Cereal, and Mr. Wismer of Malta-Vista, were forced to give a large amount of time to experimenting, as well as using up grain and fuel in their preliminary work, and here is where the sharehoulders of the Pacific Pure Food Company will reap the benefits without the expense attached.

The cry in our city for years has been, "We need factories." Here is one that will not only be a gredit to the stockholders in the company, as well as of great benefit to the farmers in this section with grain to sell, a powerful incentive to furnishing the wealth of a country.

Do you want to become a shareholder—a partner—in this splendid enterprise? Then it behooves you to quickly make up you mind as to how much you wish to identify yourself with this business. There are some investments many times more profitable than laying in a bank, and every bit as safe. This is one of them. We cannot afford to wait any longer than the time agreed as mentioned in the letter, so, be down at the agent's office in the Lankershim building and notify them of the amount you desire to take out.

Modish Wearables for Women.

Best Creations of Paris, Berlin and New York. The Largest Assortment to Select from in Los Angeles.

The progressive spirit of the Hamburger store is well known to the Los Angeles public. We are ever alert to secure the very best grades of merchandise for our patrons and especially is this true in securing women's wearables. Dame fashion, has a peculiar way of stamping her approval on products and for many years the gay city of Paris has been given preference as to leading in styles. Yet this is just; for certain it is that the foremost modistes of the world are in Paris and their garments are accepted as the proper things by every fashion leader on both continents. However, London and Berlin are two fashion centers of note; and even in our own country, New York is but little behind her European sisters. To get together such an assortment of wearables as we are showing this season has taken months of careful planning and judicious buying but with a resident buyer in Paris and another in New York we think we have fulfilled our duty and are satisfied to let the Southern California public pass judgement on the garments we have selected. Naturally all are of best material, are strictly newest in fashion and as to prices which are moderate we can absolutely assure you that every garment displayed in our immense cloak and suit department is but reasonably priced for while many of the models are exclusive there is no exclusiveness in our prices. You are making a mistake if you do not visit us before making your fall and winter purchases.

A STORY SOHWING THAT KINDNESS ALWAYS BRINGS GREAT REWANDS

THIS is a very curious story, and had it not been told to me by one in whom I have great faith I would scarcely have believed it myself; but all the same, you are quite at liberty to accept as much or as little of it as you wish.

I used to study magic with another artist named Percy D'Art, who finally declared that he had quite snough of conjuring and incantations and was going to forget it all and make his living by painting pictures, so for many a year I never saw him until at last he turned up and told me about the adventures of the Homely Princess.

Once upon a time there was born to a certain king a daughter who was so hideously ugly that it made everybody, even her mamma and her nurse, almost sick to look at her. She resembled a tittle, wrinkled monkey, her hair was red and scraggly, her eyes crossed and were of different colors, too; her mouth enormous and mis-shapen, er teeth eroeked and dark and she had so many bumps on her head that she looked as if she had been broken and repaired by some incompetent person, while her bedy was distorted and out of all proportion.

Her father and mother both cried bitterly when they first saw her, and although they tried hard to love her, it was really impossible, for one look at her would turn all the love they both had into intensest loathing. She was certainly the homelies child ever born. Her father, in fact, could not bear to look at her for an instant, for 'he sight of her made him dizzy with disgust and rage. It was her mother's custom to cover her with a veil when the King came into the room, but even her mother rarely looked at the ugly child. As she grew up she became, if possible, even more hideous. One of her legs was too short and the other too long, and her hair grow in patches of many colors like a ragearpet. Her mouth looked like that of a fish, except when she opened it, and then it resembled a rabbit's, for her teeth seemed to fill it completely. when she opened it, and then it resembled a rabbit's, for her teeth seemed to fill it completely.

that it was so lovely."

One day in the dead of winter she heard a merry whistling and started in surprise. She looked out and there, striding through the snow, was a cheery-looking man in a fur coat who was carrying a painting in his band.

ing in his hand, a painting of woods and snow. He whistled so cheerily that she listened longer than she thought, and the man, coming near, saw her standing in the window. Instead of starting in horror he merely smiled and said: "Good morning.

Princess."

She was so surprised to see a human being who was not afraid of her that she forgot all about being a king's daughter and said:

"What do you in these lonely, dreary forest wastes?"

"I am a painter," he said. "I have made a splendid study of the forest in the snow." He held it up for her to see, and he never seemed to notice that she was so hideous, for his eyes were full of the

"Oh, how beautiful!" cried Amine. "And I have been looking out at it for months and never knew at me and never seemed to see me. That's a nice man and I hope he will come back."

But he did not come back, although she thought shout him constantly and grew sadder and sadder every day until at last the spring began to tinge the woods with softest green, the flowers began to push up from the cold ground and the skies to mellow and she could walk out the grand the sadder.

But somehow she no longer wished to busy her-self with her flowers, and for long hours she stood looking out over the fields growing greener and greener every day, hoping that the merry man with the whistle might pass by, but .ll in vain. Then one morning she resolved to go into the forest and walk

there among the green trees, although she would not admit, even to herself, that she hoped to find

The disgust and aversion which she excited in everybody about the court was soon apparent to the Princess even when a small child, and she very uickly learned to avoid every one. Even she was not surprised, for when about eight years old he saw her reflection in a mirror and was horrified. After that she never looked into a mirror, and, in fact, there was not one in the part of the palace

Confined she certainly was; a prisoner, indeed, for none was allowed to see her except the attendants especially designated for that task, and before long it was found impossible to retain attendants, long it was found impossible to retain attendants, for such was everybody's aversion to the child that prisoners of state were finally substituted and thus punished for their crimes. At first the Princess, whose name was Amine, was permitted to have pets about her, but so many of them sickened and died on went mad (very likely from merely having to gaze constantly upon Amine's face) that at lass none were allowed her, and all that she had to play with were dolls; but as it was considered that the sight of pretty dolls would sadden her only very plain or even homely ones were given to her.

Thus she grew up with almost no knowledge of things beautiful, for although the King and Queen could not bear the sight of their child they did not wish to hurt her feelings by permitting her to see the awful contrast between herself and other children. Therefore beautiful paintings, tapestries and statues were banished from her apartments, although everywhere else in the palace they abounded. She had a beautiful voice and learned to sing

She had a beautiful voice and learned to sing She had a beautiful voice and learned to sing charmingly as well as to play many instruments, and sometimes her parents were charmed by her music, but never did they look at her when she play-ed, but sat behind a curtain. This was her only pleasure in life, and finally, when she was eighteen years old, she begged her father to give her a house in some remote spot far away from the court, with a walled garden, where she could live among flowers

The King, feeling a vast relief, readily granted her request, for as she grew older and uglier the sight of her disturbed him more and more, especially as she was his only child. Many foreign princes had acked him to present them to her. This, being, of course, impossible, had been refused, thereby caus-ing trouble between nations, for the foreign princes ed that the King of Anotomia was too proud her to her father's court had broken and henceforth the was as one dead.

Determined to forget that she was a King's daughter she went to work in her garden resolving to bury all memory of court and royal manners among her flowers, but she found very soon that even here in this solitude she was haunted by her ugliness. When she approached a tiny bird on a branch it flew away with a startled cry and showed that it was terrified. She did not know that all wild birds acted thus, and thought it was her hideous face that had terrified the bird. The red squirrels mounted into the tall trees, and, half-hidden, chattered angrily at her, as if protesting against bringing such a face into the woods. The black, glossy moles hastened to cury themselves in the earth as the approached, and even the butterflies fluttered off quickly when she neared them. Only the mute flowers held their faces bravely up at her without protest, and she loved them.

One day a little child who had wandered into the forest with some others happened to find her garden gate open, and, filled with curiosity, entered. The Princess, walking along a path, came upon the child Princess, walking along a path, came upon the child before he heard her and spoke to him. Looking up he saw that terrible face, and with one wild yell he fled with all his speed. It was the first child Amine had ever spoken to, and the impression she had made upon him caused her not to pity him but to hate all children from that time forth, so that when one of her servants told her that a mortal illness

Nobody dared to venture into the forest or ountains except after he had just eaten somebody, when he lay dormant for a few days, and here was poor Princess Amine right at his door! He had just awakened from a dream of coting six babies and opened his eyes to see what the weather was, for you must know that he never went out in the rain, as water would have instantly rusted his joints, when he saw a maiden standing in the opening of his cavern, right on his threshold. Springing up in such glee that he rattled like a load of tin cans, he ran right toward her, with his mouth wide open and his great teeth shining, but when he saw her face he stopped.

He began to tremble, and just then down came the rain in a flood. The dragon could not take his eyes away from Amine's hideous face, and he writhed and wriggled in agony for a few minutes, then with an awful how he put down his head, shut his red eyes and dashed past her into the open air and the deluge of rain. With a dreadful shiver, for the very touch of the cold water was deally to him, he sprang away, anxious only to escape from he sprang away, anxious only to escape from Amine's face. Down the rocky mountainside, across swamps and through forests, up hill and down dale as if pursued by furies he went, minding no obstacle, for now the rain-water was driving him al-most frantic with pain, until he suddenly came to the end of the chain that confined him and he went

A sharper, fiercer downpour of rain threw him into convulsions, and in his agony he determined to return to his cavern in spite of the horrid face up there; but now it was too late. Weakened by the rain, creaking in every joint, he tried to crawl back

Then the dark, rain-soaked forest heard strange and cwful sound. It was the voice of a dragon in anger. Animals far away in the remotest part of the woods shivered with dread as that terrible howl rang out and fied to their lairs, and even men far beyond the confines of the woods shrank back and trembled as they listened in awc. Howl followed howl, but each one weaker, fainter than the preceding, until of last a faint moan told that the swful, treacherous, bloodthirsty, voracious and insatiable monster was dring there among the rocks.

She had never before been in the woods, and the solemn grandeur of the great trees, through whose tall tops the wind whispered like a great voice, frightened her a little bit; nor was she reassured when something went dashing through the underbrush with a great scurrying, a rabbit, perhaps, but it made so much noise that Amine thought of bears at once. She decided to return before anything got her, but sleet she had taken no notice whetever of the state of Amine stood watching him in terror, too frightened to move away from the mouth of the cave and step out into the pouring rain, but still quite carefully noting the fact that the dragon had become powerless, and soon, also, seeing that he was actually dying. She was rejoiced, for, like all who lived in that region, she had often heard of his doings, and now she felt that she had accomplished something at least. To have destroyed a dragon with and now she felt that she had accomplished something at least. To have destroyed a dragon with a glance was certainly a fest, although it was a hideous face that had done it.

Suddenly the expiring monster wiggled his tail a little, gave one more weak, faint squeak and opened his mouth to catch his breath. That finished him, for the water poured into his interior and literally put him out, for, as you perhaps know, all dragons are filled with fire. Thus he was killed in a jiffy and never moved a claw afterward.

the mountains was spreading over the plains below, yet she was afraid to remain in that dreadful cave filled perhaps with awful relics of the feasts that the dragon had enjoyed, for she did not know that a dragon never leaves the least scrap of anything, any more than a fire does, besides always sweeping up all the crumbs with a flame afterward.

As she stood hesitating she heard a footfall and then the painter appeared, coming rapidly toward her. When he saw her he exclaimed:

"Ah, you are safe, thank Heaven!" I found a series thank Heaven!

'Ah, you are safe, thank Heaven! I found you tracks in the soft earth of the forest and followed you here, but I did not expect to find you. I was you here, but I did not expect to find you. I was sure the dragon had caught you, for no one ever approaches so near to his lair without being lost."

"He saw me," replied the Princess, "and he fied at once. Now he lies dead down on yonder plain."

"Dead?" cried the painter in amszement. "What for it was my old comrade who was the painter.

"It is a dreadful thing to say."

"I am thred of life," she cried. "What is there in it for such a hideous, distorted creature! Everybody hates and despises me, although I am a princess, and I have never had one happy moment since I was how."

ess, and I have never had one happy moment since I was born."
"You are mistaken," replied Percy D'Art. "You have much to be thenkful for. You have health and strength and a beautiful voice, a voice l.ke a bird. You have never tried to learn how to be l.appy."
"Can one learn to be happy?" asked the Princess.
"Very easily," replied the artist.
"Oh, tell me at once," cried Amine. "I wish to begin now."

"Well, the very first thing that you must do is to make some other person happy; that's the first step. When you have succeeded the arm will begin to work, and little by little you will yourself become filled with contentment and finally complete happiness will be yours. It is very simple."

"But I do not know how to begin, for I have scarcely ever spoken to another human being in years, other than yourself. How shall I commence; how and where find somebody to begin on?"

"That I can not tell you, for if I knew of an unhappy person I myself would try to comfort him." Then Percy led the Princess through the woods to her home, laughing and chatting merrily all the way, so that for the first time in her life she forgot way, so that for the first time in her life she forgot all about her face and when he left her it was with the advice to seek at once for some unfortunate.

The next morning she went for the first time into the city and saw the dismal homes of the poor, and passed by windows where sick children poered out with wan, thin faces at the sky. She went to her garden and loaded herself with flowers and food and returned to the town. There she hesitated no longer, but went into the first poverty-stricken house and found a sick child to when the food and the sight of the flowers was like a bit of heaven. The gratifule of the parents, as well as the child, went gratitude of the parents, as well as the child, went to Amine's hardened heart and so filled it with joy to Amine's hardened that she rang aloud.

Others, hearing that marvelous voice, crowded into the hovel and stood there awed, listening as to an angel. Amine saw that they had forgotten al-ready her hideous face and distorted figure as they drank in the song, and a wonderful happiness welled up in her. She was already at peace.

When she first smiled at the sick child a change had begun. Her great, mis-shapen mouth had slightly altered that moment, and with each tender, loving smile, always growing more and more tender as her heart welled with aympathy, came a gradual shaping anew, until it grew into a mouth like a rose, the most perfectly lovely, kissable pair of lips in all the kingdom; and her eyes, so bulging and crossed, softened and changed into violet orbs that were dazzling as well as melting. Little by little her face was re-formed, becoming so beautiful that the people gazed at it with adoration, while her hair, always tied back and away from her sight, became a halo of golden glory

Grant Kissed Them Both.

Will Carleton, author of "Songs of Two Centuries," was speaking the other day of his last interview with Gen. Grant. "I had seen him and met him on various occasions," he said, "but this was the first time I had ever had him to myself for half an hour. It was at a country railroad station, where we were both waiting for a train. A more simple, quiet, undemonstrative man in private conversation I never saw. We talked of his famous trip around the world, and compared data concerning places where we had both been. Especially was he struck with Ayr, the birthplace of Burns, and with two of Burns's nieces, the Misses Begg, two elderly maiden ladies who lived in a cosy cottage a few miles from 'audd Kirk Alloway,' and who were daughters of Burns's sieter. lived in a cosy cottage a few miles from 'auld Kirk Alloway,' and who were daughters of Burns's sister. I had happened to visit them immediately after Grant was there, and they were naturally enthusiastic about the great American hero. But when I laughingly repeated this to the general, a twinkle appeared in his eye, and he said, quietly, 'I kissed both of them.' "—[Louisville Herald.

Our fifth annual half-price sale of oriental rugs commences Monday, October 19th. We were strongly tempted to omit the sale this year because the prices of oriental rugs are advancing rapidly and the stock we now have will be worth much more inside of a few months. If it were not for the fact that we have promised this sale to many of our customers and it is a regular event we would omit it in order to keep our stock up, thus avoiding the necessity of buying new rugs at the advanced prices.

Every rug in stock will be offered at exactly half price, but the duration of the sale will be limited to one or two weeks. Our stock includes oriental rugs from $25.00 Shirvans to $2000.00 Tabriz carpets. Every one is marked in plain figures, which is our regular custom. During this sale you can

Fine Orientals $12 to $30

A good assortment of smaller Orientals, including Bokhara, Iram, Fereghan, Mosul, Daghestan, Shirvan, Serebend, Kazak, Camelshair, Khiva and Kashmir, can be bought during this sale at exactly half price, which range from $12 to $30.

The Character and Quality of Our Rugs.

First of all we do not sell any acid washed or chemically treated rugs. We will give a written guar antee with every rug that it is not in any way treated with acid or chemicals, and that it is the genuine product of the province or country whose name it bears. Few people are expert judges of oriental rugs, or sufficiently familiar with them to detect the spurious from the genuine. You can make no mistake in buying of us because you may rely upon our guaranteee and expert knowledge. You can make few investments that will pay a greater profit than the purchase of an oriental rug at these prices. During the coming season the increase in price will probably be 50 per cent, possibly more. At the prices we quote you are getting rugs for $\frac{1}{2}$ their value 12 months hence.

I think you ought to go to the very

HAZEL.

Trying to get the iron out of your blood for the purpose of eliminating the freckies would be a very long process.

If advisable to attempt it, a physician could give you a prescription for this purpose. I think if you will use the ointment for which I give you recipe you will be able to fade the freckies out. Do not be, surprised if the ointment roughens the skin. It will peel off. Be very careful not to get the ointment into the eyes, nose or throat, as it will irritate.

The first peeling off will fade the freckies. You may repeat the process at intervals of geveral weeks until you entirely obliterafs the blemish.

and when to them is added-the material advantage of lower rents the superiority of the suburban house over the city of welling is established.

There are long rides by trolley or train: there is the necessity of keeping early hours; there are difficulties with limited grocery, butcher and bakery service. there are other practical drawbacks.

But over and beyond these is the abiding sense of space, of freedom of movement, of ample air and sunlight, of a place to live in.

So rapid has been the development of suburban living in our great cities that almost every purse can be sultied in houses in these outlying districts.

It is, however, an interesting fact that the suburbs develop in classes. The cheaper houses do not mix well with houses of higher cost. The good roads and spacious gardens do not, as a rule, alternate with narrow large and mimic dwellings. Entire districts are built of houses of little cost.

On the whole, this distinction seems to be a practical one; for while it brings people of the same average means all together, raises or lowers living expenses in a corresponding manner. The suburban house is a type of progress. It may be hastily built and poorly constructed; it may not even be good

Gold and Silver Production Marveious Increase in Production Condition of the Sugar Industry.

BY EDWARD C. SUTLER.

[BFECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CITY OF MEXICO, Oct. 10, 1903.—
The approaching arrival of the Secretary of the Treasury, Hon. José Yves Limantour, who is expected after the 1st of November, makes of particular interest to Mexico all information relating to the financial and monetary situation of the republic, and firyecially in view of the fact that the Monetary Commission acting in Mextico, the United States—and Europe, will soon afterward present its report to Mr. Limantour and the latter will usemorialize the Mexican government for the establishment of a fixed standard of values as between gold and silver coinage, probably fixing the Mexscan peso at 56 cents gold valuation.
The Treasury Department this week
fissued its builetin for the fiscal year 1961-02, which gives the following statement of Mexico's gold and silver production, year after year during the quarter of a century closing June 20, 1902. The following is the showing:

The council of administration of the great tobacco factory of this city, El Buen Tono, acting under authority, granted by the general meeting of smarcholders held March 25 of this year to increase the capital to $1,000,-000, has decided to issue for the present 2000 shares and opportunely to announce the issue of the remaining $900. This new issue will be preference shares bearing 7 per cent. per annum and shall be entitled to a dividend when the net profits exceed 10 per cent. on the capital. The subscription shall be made at the par value $100, of which 50 per cent. shall be paid in the act of subscribing. 25 per cent. next December 31, and the remaining 25 per cent. April 1, 1904. The present shareholders are allowed until September 36 the preference to subscribe for these new shares; after that date the subscription list will be open to the public until October 15. The list is now open for the shareholders at the factory's office, Plaza de San Juan 218, and in Geneva, switzerland, at the office of Messrs. Lenoir Poulin & Co., bankers, boulevard du Theatre.

This is the principal company of the three that parties from New York contracted to buy, and deposited in a bank of this city $45,000 as a guarantee that the purchase would be effected on June 30. The directors of El Buen Tono have renounced all idea of seiling the factory, and are resolved to extend operations and to export largely as well as supply the home trade.

Not by this would I imply that the laws on thel and calumnitation are oppressive or unjust. On the other hand, there is scarcely any country in the world with a more stringent law in that respect, and were the United States to have even a portion of the legislation prevalent here along that score there would be less murder of reputations, less unchained sensationalism in the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave. It is a serious thing in Mexico to attack a man's character in the newspapers, and the unhealthy occupation is not often induged in. HOW I CURE WEAK, PUNY MEN

Give me a man broken down from excesses, dissipation, hard work, or worry, from any cause, which has sapped his vitality. Let him follow my advice for three months, and I will make him as vigorous in every respect as any man of his age.

I will not promise to make a Hercules of a man who was never intended by nature to be strong and sturdy. Even that man I can make better than he is; but the man who has been strong and has lost his strength I can make as good as he ever was. I can give back to any man what he has lost by abuse of the laws of nature.

A man who is nervous, whose brain and body are weak, who sleeps badly, awakes more tired than when he went to bed, who is easily discouraged; inclined to brood over imaginary troubles, who has lost ambifion and energy to tackle hard problems, lacks the animal electricity which the Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt supplies.

The whole force of vitality in your body is dependent upon your animal electricity. When you lose in any manner my Belt wil replace it and cure you.

The whole force of vitality in your body is dependent upon your animal electricity. When you lose in any manner my Belt wil replace it and cure you.

Dr. M. A. McLaughlin: Dear Sir—I have now been wearing your Belt about a month, and I wish to report that the Belt has benefited me in every way, so that today I feel like a new man. My back does not trouble me say more, my nerves are stronger, and my sleep's better than it has been before in years. I want to thank you for the benefits I have derived from your method of treatment, and with kindest regards I remain, yours very truly.

Letters like that tell a story which means a great deal to a sufferer. They are a beacon light to the man who has become discouraged from useless doctoring. I get such letters every day.

My belt has a wonderful influence upon tired, weak nerves. It busies and invigorates them, and stirs up a great force of energy in a man.

I make the best electrical body appliance in the world, having devoted twenty years to perfecting it. I make the best electrical body appliance in the world, having devoted twenty years to perfecting it. I brave and the best electrical body appliance in the world, having devoted twenty years to perfecting it. I brave my trade. My cures after everything else has failed are my best arguments.

Dr. M. A. McLaughlin: Dear Sir—Your belt has fulfilled every expectation. It has proven that 130 worth of electricity is worth to be a healthy man in every respect. So thanking you for the interest and generosity you have shown me in so many ways, I heg to remain, yours very truly.

Give me a man with pains in his back, a dull ache in his muscles or joints, "come and go" pains in his shoulders, chest and side; Sciatica in his hip, Lumbago, Rheumatism or any ache or pain, and my Belt will pour the oll of life into his aching body and drive out every sign of pain. No pain can exist where my Belt is worn.

Dr. McLaughlin: Dear Str-I am very giad to be able to tell you that my health is improving right along: I am practically cured and will certainly be giad to recommend the treatment to my friends. Thanking you for the interest you take in my case. I remain, yours very truly.

They come every day from everywhere. There is not a town or hamlet in the country which has not cured by Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt.

Now, what does this mean to you, dear reader? If you are not what you ought to be, can you ask any better proof to make you try it? Is there a remedy which is as simple, as easy to use, as sure to cure, and as cheap as Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt? I have not seen one. You must try it. In justice to yourself and to those who look to you for their future happiness, try it now. Act this minute. Such a matter ought not to be delayed.

It's as good for women as for men. Worn while you sleep, it causes no trouble. You feel the gentle glowing heat from it constantly, but no sting, no burning, as old-style belts.

Call today, or send for my beautiful book, full of the things a man likes to read if he wants to be a strong man. I send it sealed, free. Cut out this ad.

Sale of 10,000 Yards of Black Silks.

Bought at Auction One-Fourth to Une-Third Under Price.

On Sept. 17 in New York City 5000 pieces of black silks made by the York Silk Manufacturing Co. whose selling agents are Spielman & Co., were sold at auction. Every yard of these silks were manufactured within the past three months and were produced for the general trade but this was a peremptory sale and was without reserve. New York papers commenting on it credit it as a record breaking sale of silks and the bidding was so lively that the entire lot was sold in three hours. The assortment consists almost exclusively of black Taffetas and black

In team work and speed the High School team outplayed the collegians, but the tremendous odds of an average of twenty pounds extra weight to the man was too much for the plucky little High School men to overcome, and the husky Methodist backs made fearful holes in their lines.

A larger number of them liked Blissful, for she had unthe distance in 1:13% on the north-ern tracks, and was known to be speedy. A barrel of piker money poured in on her at 2 to 1, and how well she justified the opinions of her backers was shown by the result of the race. Many thought that for a first time out for some weeks, Kenliworth would falter, and that is just what he did.

EASY FOR SOLON.

An easy victory was Solon's win at one and an eighth miles, when he disposed of Cambaceres in hollow fashion. Passing the stand the first time, Cambaceres was leading, and he stayed there for three-quarters of a mile. Solon was running under a wrap, two lengths behind, but after the turn he moved up and headed Cambaceres a neck. It was easy after that, for Powell on Solon merely sat and watched Cambaceres plunging his head off under punishment in trying to get in front. Bragg was third, six lengths behind Cambaceres.

OCCIDENTAL AND THROOP. The second team won its first game yesterday morning from the second Throop combination with the score of 10 to 0. Fumbles and ragged play were the characteristics of both teams and the cause of Throop Polytechnic's defeat, as its men were quick and could see holes, but had not the necessary interference to make their yards—in hardly any of the downs. Calkins and Sharp played the good game for the visitors, and E. Wieman, the Spaulding brothers and Merrill were the stars on Occidental's side. Bruce Merrill made a touchdown on a 30-yard end run and Edgar Spaulding carried it over the goal lines of a 7-yard buck over tackle. E. Wieman and Clarence Spaulding also made runs of 25 yards each.

The battery is something new to-racing judges in Kentucky. In the case of Riley B. it was planted under the seat of the sulky, but it can also be used by the holding of a bulb in the driver's hand. There is no rule of the National Trotting Association re-garding the use of a battery.

SULLIVAN'S JUDGMENT.

"George Gardner will be beaten by Bob Fitzsimmons and it won't take the old Cornishman long to do it, either," said John L. Sullivan, the former world's heavyweight champion. Sullivan reached his conclusion after careful comparison of the styles of fighting of each man.

"Fitzsimmons is a great boxer," said John L. "He, has every advantage. I have seen Gardner box. There's no comparison between them. Gardner is quick, but he isn't quick enough for Fitz.

GREATEST BALL PLAYER.

"Now between Lajoie and Wagner, I give the paim to Wagner," said Manager Selee in Chicago.

Wagner can play on the left side of the diamond, and he can play on Lajoie's side of the diamond, too. Wagner has a mighty reach and has the longest stride of any man in the lesques.

"Hans' is not quite as good with the stick, perhaps, as Lajoie, but his fielding is marvelous, his base running all that could be expected, and, in short, he is my ideal of an ideal player.

"Lajoie is certainly a close second, but I think he is a second."

Berkeley Freshmen Unable to Cope With Stanford

Score Stood Twelve to Nothing at End of the Gama

Bive and Gold Eeven in Poor Condition and Ou generaled at Every Point.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 18.—In the intercollegiate freshman football game on the Richmond gridiron this aftermoon, the University of California team was completely put, to rout, the Stanford eleven acoring twelve points to none for their opponents. Not only were the Berkeley men in poor condition, but they were completely out-generaled at every point of the game by the wearers of the Cardinal. The superior weight of the Californians was unavailing against the Cardinals, who made gain after gain almost at will.

Kern, Berkeley's captain, did not play the star game that had been expected of him, and was forced to retire about the middle of the first half from injuries he received in the terrific onslaught against his men. While Gills, Kern, Gabriel, Allen and Tweedy played a good game for California, they could not overcome the temendous gains made for Stanford by Weiler, Stephenson, Doll, Stott, and Butterfield.

The football field had been poorly prepared for the game, and its hardness told on the players who were repeatedly hurt by coming in contact with the hard surface.

The game was unusually well attended for a freshman game, there being fully 6000 people present. The rooters who were placed in joining sections kept up an incessant yelling of their slogans. Both universities had their bands present, and upon the conclusion of the game the Stanford musicians took the head of a serpentine dance that had its beginning on the football field, and its conclusion, after a march through the streets of San Francisco, at the City Hall.

From the first scrimmage it was easily discernible that the Stanford ties possessed the superior team. By Yale's Superior Half-backs.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Oct. 17.—Yale defeated the Pennsylvania State eleven today in a rainstorm, 27 to 6. Yale scored two touchdowns in the first by bucking the line and end running. The play was the simplest throughout, and the superiority of the Yale half-backs rather than the attacking power of the forwards is responsible for the big score.

HIS REMARKAPT-B RECORD.

King Chimmie Toman the First left suddenly for Philadelphia last week to attend the bedside of his father, who is very ill in that city. This has kept Toman from completing what is probably the most remarkable record ever made by a professional ball player—the record of viaying over 600 games straight for four successive seasons without missing a single game or a time at bat. Toman has been ill this year and unfit to play but his gritty determination to make a record in the most trying position of shortstop kept him in the game when many a man would have quit and taken the rest to which he is entitled.

NO ALL-STAR TEAMS.

CANTILLON IS AUTHORITY.
There will be no all-star baseball teams making tours of the West this year. Joe Cantillon, who has brought the teams to the Coast for the past two years, says that he will not undertake the venture this winter, as the manager of the San Francisco Club thinks that the people there do not care to patronise the game all the year

The Northwestern University football team shows all the symptoms of being a strictly amateur aggregation.

Pretsel has been chosen to play fullback on the University of Iowa eleven. If Einstein can now only make the team, Iowa will have an aggregation that St. Louis or Milwaukee would be proud to own.

Minnesota's football team has an Indian at one end and a negro at the other. There's no color line in football. They all look alike after about three minutes of play.

"Funny world, this," said one pool-room man to another. "Down in New orleans we pay policemen to come around and keep order. In Chicago you pay 'em to stay away."

In these days of secret football practice the faculty peremptorily ordered the football eleven to disband for the season.

to Catalina, and the most probable explanation advanded to excuse the tuna's esthetic appetite was the reasonable assumption that they had preferred the easier beliyfuls that could be obtained by rashing headlong with open mouth into the packed schools and guiping down their fill.

There was no scarcity of tuna so far as the eye was concerned. They were seen everywhere. Dozens of parties went out after them in the specially-built trolling launches that may be obtained at Catalina, and a small percentage had strikes, but most of the anglers contented themselves with occasional yellowtail, ablocare, bonita or rock bass, all of which have been obtained at intervals during the entire fishing season.

While the tuna were scarce, the black sea hass, or jewfish, did yeoman service to hold up the Magic Isle's placutorial reputation. Very fine ones were repeatedly hooked and gaffed on the jewfish banks, and the record for weight was shoved up to over 400 pounds. Very few who went out after these big fellows and stayed with them persistently for a few days falled to get all they cared to catch, but at the best their logy cow-like rushes are a poor substitute for the long, crazy runs of the hooked tuns.

VERNON PARK

Consists of over 75 acres and was planted to fruits and ornamental trees over a quarter of a century age by the early builders of Los Angeles. It has become too valuable for raising of fruits and vegetables and has been placed in our hands for subdivision. Here you will find the finest orchards, the best soil of any tract that has ever been placed on sale in Los Angeles. We propose to sell it. Our terms, its location, the improvements already made, together with the 25-year-old trees, is a guarantee that every lot will sell and will double in value inside of a year. Many trees in Vernon Park are worth the price of the lot. We have 300 choice lots, ranging in price from $300 to $600, upon liberal terms. Will you go miles further out and pay from $1000 to $2000 for a lot without a single tree, when you can buy in Vernon Park at our prices? It is in line with all the great developments now being made by Mr. Huntington—the building of his $300,000 car shops and his large car barns, where over 2000 people will be employed, is near by; the building of the deep sea harbor at San Pedro, which is just in line, with Ascot Park Race Track; the finest on the coast, which is now about completed—here nine different car lines will center—the improvements now being made at South Park by the city, the paving of Central Avenue with asphalt, which will make it the main entrance to the city for all the South and Eastern portion of the county, Vernon Avenue, over five miles long, which is now being improved by the city, and a cross town line to be built—fronts our property on the north; the Long Beach line and the Whittier line will be three blocks east: Ascot Avenue will pass directly through the tract, Central Avenue line being one block west. Our lots front on Vernon Avenues. All numbered streets will be graded with cement curbs, sidewalks and all modern conveniences. Here you have quick transportation, 5-minute service, building restrictions; no saloons, no shanties. Purchasers are not compelled to build. Don't invest anywhere
